"In the Eyes of Youth"

As the Sagittarius Staff began organizing the 1983 Yearbook, the first obstacle was creating a yearbook theme that expressed the atmosphere of T.C.H.S. After a few tries, we were fortunate to have a good idea. After slight changes, the theme was to be, "In The Eyes of Youth". It was chosen because we felt that this annual should reflect the true feelings and ideas as the students see them.

As editor, for the first time I took the opportunity to sit back and observe the students of T.C.H.S. Never had I realized how important each person was to the atmosphere of the school. Each student had his own role to play in the classroom, and it was imperative that he do so. Whether it was the person who demonstrated how to make pizza in Speech class, the 1st chair flutist, or the student who volunteered time to tutor others, it was all part of T.C.H.S. life. On the other hand, think how boring class would be if the class clown hadn't thrown that paper wad across the room.

Above right: The Channelton Locks is a familiar spot for students who like to get away from it all. Robin McFall and Don Swaney take time off from the rest of the world.

It may take as much as 60 minutes for all the students and faculty to arrive in the morning, but it takes only 15 minutes for the parking lots to clear after school.

Right: 3:20 ends the day, but for some it begins a work day. Above: Greg Stowe, Dave Moman, and Dan Everly earn money by stocking shelves and sacking groceries.

Although attendance at most sporting events has steadily decreased, classmates and faithful fans continue to support the Marksmen teams. The cheerleaders encourage spirit among the student body.

News Flash

1982-83 was a typical school year, but there were many unique happenings in the U.S. October 14th, the Epcot Center, a permanent world's fair in Orlando, Florida opened. Panic, resulting in 7 deaths in the Chicago area and the recall of Extra-Strength Tylenol, hit the U.S. October 6th. It had been laced with cyanide. October 31st ended the '82 World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee.

November 11th, the Space Shuttle Columbia left Cape Canaveral and returned Nov. 16th. Faulty suits caused the walk to be cancelled. Dec. 2nd, JARVIK 7, the first artificial heart, was successfully transplanted.

Major news stories continued to break but students at TCHS were still concerned with summer vacation.

The hall becomes a makeshift room for A. Kleeman to make-up an exam.

"Is lunch over?" wonders K. Cronin, M. Minto, M. Lautner, and B. Conen.

Lights Out

Get up, eat breakfast, go to school, catch up on local gossip and go to class. This routine was seldom deviated from; however, Wednesday, October 20th was different. Students and faculty alike arrived at school only to find that there was no electricity. Many of the rooms were without windows, so to simplify matters, the entire student body went into the gym to wait. At 10:30 anyone having class in a room with windows returned to it.

What did 700 kids do for nearly three hours? They chanted things like, "We want out," and they made hundreds of paper airplanes. Opinions concerning sitting in the gym varied. The comments included, "I felt like a prisoner," and "I thought it was great! I wish we could do it more often."

Six minutes between classes allow students ample time to converse at their lockers and still make it to class on time.

An unexpected but welcome break from school was taken on account of a 2½ hour black-out. The student body spent the time socializing.

Above: The close scores in a football game can be rather trying at times. Concern for the victory shows in the faces of the band members.

Sometimes the fast pace of student life becomes too much and some guidance is needed. Mr. Lowe offers Julie Paris several options concerning her schedule. Below: Crutches are a common sight in the halls of TCHS this year. Diane Widmer helps Micki Cronin with her books, while Nicky Conner assists Marty Meyer as they hobble their way to class before the halls become crowded.

Trying to create spirit among the student body is not always an easy job. The cheerleaders do their best to create something unusual for each session. Students are released early from class in order to have a pep session in hopes that this will build both fan's and athlete's enthusiasm. Above: Although students are absent daily, this Tuesday it appears to be more hectic in the attendance office than usual. Stephanie Tsantis is getting her absence excused.

Seems Like Yesterday

As a senior I am much more aware of my thinking. "That was the last football game," or "I'm really going to miss those ugly green lockers," seems to be going through my mind. It appears as though everything we do, we're doing for the last time. I know I'm not alone in my reasoning because I asked other seniors for their opinions, and here are some of their replies. "I never thought about it much before but this year we are seniors and for me, in wrestling it is do or die. But, when you think about it, it is that way with everything," commented Bill Elder. Carol Basham added, "When you want something bad enough, you'll do your best to get it." Since we're seniors, this is our last year to prove to ourselves that we can accomplish our goals. I think that makes us try harder.

Above Right: Girls are not the only ones found in the halls gossiping. Here the auto mechanics class update each other with the latest news.

Besides studying, the library is used by students interested in finding out what's happening.

Center Right: Although they would rather be out on Main Street, Kelly Stephens, Paul Weber and Dave Moshenek study for final exams.

Right: The cafeteria food has improved greatly, but students wonder if the price is worth it.

Of course no matter how many students felt sad about everyday events, there would always be that group of students who had what the faculty called "senioritis". The students who strolled down the halls, seemingly without a care in the world, were evidence of this. Everyone was aware of the empty desk in the room, which happened to belong to a senior who fell in this category and was absent three out of the five days every school week. These were the students who constantly talked and dreamed about the plans for the future: what college they were going to, what kind of activities they were undertaking during the summer, or how much money they would be making.

The underclassmen seem content in simply watching the seniors do their own thing. As they look on with naive attitudes, they seem only to think about the day they will be looked up to as super seniors.

Left: Gas prices are high; cars are expensive; curfews are made, but the tradition of dragging Main is still alive.

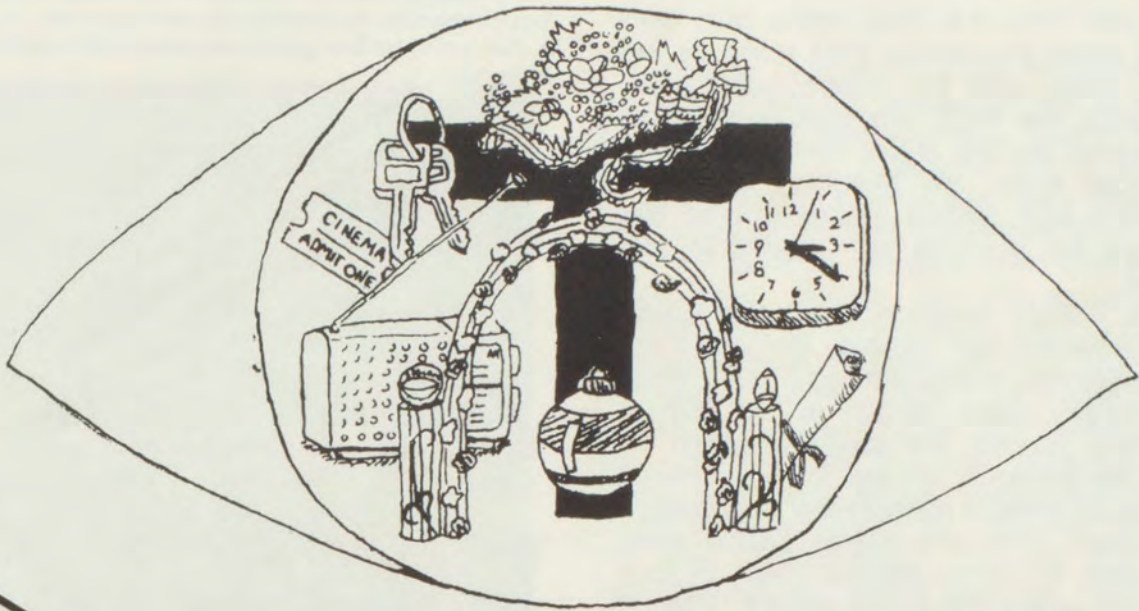

Selling concessions to the hungry spectators are athletes G. Howell and M. Dyer. This task is part of being an athlete.

"Star Bright"

The air was still, the stars were out, and excitement swept the crowd. Fans stood as the attendants, along with the Queen candidates, marched onto the field. The four candidates were nominated by the senior members of the varsity football team. The Marching Marksman were present and added excitement to the atmosphere by playing soft music in the background.

Shouts of delight could be heard a block away as Joe Evrard and Eric May made the official announcement. Kathy Bennett's eyes lit up as she heard her name announced. Her escort, Jeff Olberding, placed the sparkling crown on her head. The president on the Student Council was on hand to present roses to the new queen.

When asked what she remembered most about October 15, Kathy replied, "Jeff couldn't get the crown untied." She also added, "I didn't feel anything. I think I was numb until I looked up and saw my mom."

Sneaking a few words to Jeff Olberding, her escort, is Queen Kathy Bennett. Stacy Smith and Chris Spencer ponder the evenings concerning his participation, his reply was, "If I don't do it, that would be like quitting the team, and I can't let Coach Pride down."

Center: Watching the photographers at work are Carol Basham, Todd Arnold, Holly Becker, Scott Saalman, Stacey Peak, and David Moman.

CELEBRATION

A week of anticipation finally ended on Friday, January 14, with the announcement of the 1982-83 Basketball Homecoming Queen by Julie Groves. There was a definite aura of excitement as Jackie Dauby's name was read. Queen Jackie was crowned and presented with a dozen red roses as the cameras flashed and the crowd applauded. Jackie was escorted by Scott Birchler. Senior candidates included Brenda Boling escorted by Dave Moman, Jane Hoffman escorted by Scott Saalman, and Katie Meyer escorted by Rick Braunecker. Freshman Karen Ludwig was escorted by Brian Busse. Sophomore Diane Carter was escorted by Marc Krieg, and Junior Jull Tuggle was escorted by Jeff Bishop. This was a great honor, and this night will be remembered by Jackie and the student body for years to come.

3:21

As the bell rang, the halls jammed with students heading for the exits. From 8:00 to 3:20 the student's actions were dictated by the school, but when the bell rang, time was their own.

Finding things to do after school was not hard. Some stopped off at a fast food restaurant to take a break before going home to "tackle the books". Others called friends to make plans or to catch up on gossip. The Arcade, one of the popular hang-outs, occupied much of the student's time.

Others were not fortunate enough to have free time. Students involved in sports put in two hours of hard work before heading home. Others left school for work. Eventually though, all students went home, did homework, and prepared for another day.

Practicing everyday keeps Bill Elder and Brian Bruner in top condition for wrestling matches. Warm-ups are an important part of wrestling.

Making the Scene

Fer shurr, totally, and awesome! What do all of these words have in common? They were the most widespread trend to sweep the country in 1982. The "Valley Girl" trends brought with it a "suit yourself" type of attitude. In 1982, fashion became personality and language. Guys began to play their own part in fashion. They made hits out of camouflage outfits, oxford shirts with sweaters, cut-offs, and turf shoes. The gals brought back the popular mini skirts, oxfords, and changed roles with the tuxedo look. Roll down boots claimed the market and shoes that used to be considered outdated, became popular again. As different styles came and left, one thing that never changed was jeans. T-shirts and jeans can be found everywhere. There are jeans for play, jeans for show, and jeans for everyday. As long as one has a pair of jeans and a T-shirt, he will always be in style.

Take a Break from the Routine . . .

Hobbies are an important part of many students' lives and we would like to share a few with you. Lisa Young's pastime is karate. Her boyfriend often talked about it, and his stories interested her. She has been involved for eight months and earned her second belt. Carol Foerster has been latch hooking since she was 10. She enjoys making her own designs. She said, "It is inexpensive and easy to do anywhere." Billy Williams paints for fun and profit. He started painting at an early age. He has developed his skill well enough to earn money for his talent. Many of his works are entered in Tri Kappa art shows. Jeff Kratzer began racing when he was 14. He travels to race tracks in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. He has trophies to prove his talent. Kelly Clark has been in the music business for 10 years. September 1982 he began the Southern Rock Band.

Who Needs SNOW?

Everyone's dreams of a white Christmas were shattered this year with temperatures in the 60's and 70's during the holiday week and 7.47 inches of rainfall during the month. But regardless of the weather, December was filled with festivities. On December 5, many TCHS students could be found on Main Street either watching or participating in the Christmas Parade. During the following two weeks several clubs celebrated with parties, and it soon became evident by the decorations appearing in the classrooms and hallways that many people at TCHS were getting the Christmas spirit. The main event for the month was the annual Christmas Dance which was held at the Armory on December 17. It was a sellout as usual. The band, Southern Rock, under the leadership of Kelly Clark was a definite success!!

Enjoying refreshments by the Pep Club are D. Hendershot, J. Quick, P. Linne, J. Hagedorn, and J. Hendershot. Below: adding to the festive spirit at TCHS, Cindy Dauby and Tina Ross decorate Mr. Pride's outer office.

The Christmas dance is a time to wear that slightly daring outfit which reflects the styles of '82. C. Becker, J. Evrard, S. Walsh and S. Malone are enjoying themselves.

WHO'S WHO

Hard work coupled with dedication is the principle ingredient in maintaining a 3.5 average through the four years of high school. This is shown by the increased number of students who achieved this rank.

This year there were sixteen outstanding young scholars who were able to accomplish this feat. It took a lot of studying and dedication to keep their grades high while participating in extra-curricular activities at school and in the community.

Each student was asked to share a little of themselves by filling out a questionnaire. We, the Sagittarius staff, join with the student body in congratulating these following sixteen students. These pages are in commemoration to those academic students.

Darla Beatty participated in NHS, intramurals, Ski Club, Pep Club, prom committee and mat maids throughout high school.

Darla suggested to the underclassmen to set standards for themselves. Find out what they want from life and work hard to get it.

Darla's close friends and family played a major role in reaching her goals.

Darla's plans are to attend Western Kentucky University next fall. Legal Office Administration is her long term goal.

Holly Becker was active in band, Pep Club, Varsity Club, Spanish Club, and National Honor Society during her school career.

Holly encouraged the underclassmen to get and stay involved in as many extracurricular activities as possible.

In promoting her in achieving her goals, Holly says her parents were a great asset.

Holly's future plans include either attending St. Mary's College of Notre Dame or attending Notre Dame College. Her major is uncertain.

Michele Beller kept a full schedule by participating in many activities. These included cheerleading, intramurals, Ski Club, Pep Club, NHS, Science Club, Student Council, Drama Club and French Club.

Michele felt taking part was more fun than letting someone else do it. The encouragement and praise Michele received from her parents helped her greatly in achieving the goals she set for herself.

University of Evansville is Michele's choice. She's considering a major in computers.

Jeffrey W. Birchler has participated in various activities throughout his high school career. These included NHS, Ski Club, baseball, German Club and basketball manager.

Jeff's advice to the underclassmen is to work as hard as possible throughout high school because it will pay off at the end.

Jeff gives credit to his parents for their encouragement in attaining his goals. He plans to attend Purdue University where he will major in engineering and minor in the computer science field.

In high school, Stephanie Busse has participated in intramural softball, NHS, basketball, track, Pep Cub and French Club.

Stephanie advises the underclassmen to be independent. "Don't be afraid to be different. Do what you think is right, not what everyone else believes is right."

Parents and friends were Stephanie's contributing factors in achieving her goals.

Northwestern appeared in Stephanie's future plans. She is interested in the field of computers.

Anna Clark enjoys swimming, horse-back riding, and motorcycle riding. She has been a member of the Pep Club.

Anna's advice to the underclassmen was to study hard in high school and prepare for college.

Ann gave credit to her parents and Mrs. Foertsch, Health Occupation's teacher, in helping her achieve her goals.

Anna plans to go to the Evansville School of Health Occupations. While there she will pursue a surgical technician career.

Photography and piano playing are some of the things that Bruce Conen enjoyed. He participated in NHS.

The people who have helped Bruce most in achieving goals he had set were his parents and the Tell City High School teaching staff.

The advice that Bruce has for underclassmen is to "plan for the future while there is still time. Most people don't plan to fail, they fail to plan." Bruce's future plans are to attend Purdue University where he will major in either Industrial or Mechanical Engineering.

Cindy Dauby has been a cheerleader, band member, and a participant in Pep Club, French Club, and NHS. She was also Senior Class Secretary and office helper.

Cindy advises the underclassmen to learn to accept themselves as individuals and not try to change.

Cindy credits her parents with being the most influential people in her life; even when failing they have never turned away from her.

Cindy will attend Indiana University where she will major in telecommunication.

Jackie Dauby's interests included swimming and walking. She participated in the French Club, Key Club, intramurals, Student Council and NHS. She served as President of the senior class.

Jackie's advice for the underclassmen was to get involved. "High school is more than just classes."

To Jackie, her teachers were the major contributors helping her achieve her goals. Upon graduation Jackie plans to attend Indiana University with a possible major in Computer Science.

Some of Michael Allen Devillez's favorite hobbies included playing ping-pong and going camping.

Mike believes that his parents have helped him the most in achieving the goals he has set for himself. They have supported him in the decisions he has made.

Mike's advice to the underclassmen is to take the type of classes that will best prepare them for their career.

Mike's future plans are undecided, but he would like to major in mathematics.

Debby Elliott's hobbies included drawing, reading, and music. Throughout high school she participated in Spanish Club, Drama Club, NHS, Pep Club, CYO, and yearbook.

Helpful advice Debby gave to the underclassmen was not to be lazy. She said "The things they want aren't going to come running to them."

Debby felt the support from her parents and the confidence in herself helped her most in achieving her goals.

Debby plans to attend I.S.U. with a possible major in art.

Julie Groves participated in many activities throughout high school. These included NHS, Honors Banquets, Student Council, band, Pep Club, Key Club, Drama Club, Ski Club, French Club, and intramurals. In spite of her busy schedule, she was able to maintain her grades.

"Fulfilling their potential and striving for their goals" was Julie's advice to the underclassmen. Obviously, Julie followed this advice.

Julie's future plans include attending Indiana University. As of now her major is undecided.

Lisa Harth enjoys pitching horseshoes, bowling, and dancing. In school, she has been active in National Honor Society, Pep Club and intramurals.

Lisa advises the underclassmen to "just be yourself." It is important to get involved in activities, but you must not let it interfere with studying.

Lisa credits her parents, brothers, and teachers in helping her achieve her goals. She plans to attend Indiana State University with an undecided major.

Lisa Lambert has been active in girl's varsity basketball, track, Varsity Club, Pep Club, and NHS during high school.

Lisa advised the underclassmen to "Work hard through high school, not to wait too long to realize the necessity of good grades."

Lisa feels that her teachers have helped her attain her goals by encouraging her; she also gives credit to her parents for this.

Lisa plans to attend Indiana University to major in Biology and then continue on to medical school.

Tina Roos has been in band, Pep Club, Student Council, Key Club, French Club, and National Honor Society.

She attributes her family with giving her the most help in achieving her goals.

Tina advises the underclassmen to never underestimate themselves. Each individual should decide what he wants. Then, she suggests, "go for it."

Tina's future plans are to attend the University of Evansville and enter the field of Music Therapy.

Favorite hobbies of Joy Sidle were stamp collecting and reading. In addition, Joy was a member of the yearbook staff, Hospital Auxiliary, Spanish Club, French and Drama Club, Pep Club and NHS.

Joy urged the underclassmen to always do their best. "Set goals and strive to reach them."

Joy felt the encouragement from her parents contributed greatly to her achievements.

After high school, Joy will attend Tennessee Temple University majoring in business or education.

"On the Wings of Love"

Dancing to the music of Saxon is one of the many activities that takes place prom night.

A night to dress up, to make believe, to romance, to remember were descriptions that fit Prom night. As the days dwindled, the excitement mounted. Many students were trying to color coordinate themselves. Many of the activities of the 1983 Prom were duplications of the 1982 Prom, but at least two things were unique: the feelings of seniors who realized "this was it," and the feelings of the rookies who had never experienced the "goings-on" of Prom night.

Each year Juniors were responsible for the cost and decoration of the dance. Many faculty members were on hand to share in this event. Photographers were on hand to take pictures of each couple or group who wished it. With pictures, flowers, and many memories, it was unlikely that prom would be forgotten.

For Larry DeVillez, measuring for a tux is as important as picking out dresses is for girls. Most guys found their tuxes in town while girls busily travel about for wardrobes.

“We Did It”

Peering down on the class of '83, family, friends, and classmates were greeted with the words “we did it” pinned neatly on top of seven mortarboards. This seemed to reflect the general attitude of the graduating class as they embraced each other after moving their tassels. The realization of what this ceremony really meant was still to come.

Valedictorian Bruce Conen urged his classmates to go forth and be tomorrow's leaders. Salutatorian Stephanie Busse, Susan Blandford, Debbie Elliott, Stilla Janosa, Stacey Peak, and Laura Reisz. Each speaker in her own way reminded the class of the support they had received and the duties they would soon discharge.

cepted the class as graduates. Mr. Stenftenagel announced the 172 names as the seniors received diplomas from Superintendent Wilson. Tension filled the air as the onlookers strained to hear that "special name" when another diploma was handed out. An occasional scream of delight echoed throughout the gym. Smiles were evident on the faces of everyone.

The seniors marched out during the recessional to be greeted in the cafeteria and on the sidewalks by fellow graduates and well-wishers. As the graduates went their separate ways to celebrate this special moment, each remembered "The class of 1983 will not follow where the path may lead, but will go where there is no path and leave a trail."

Culture Clubs

"Anyone for M&M's?" were the words spoken throughout school by members of the foreign language clubs. The money raised was used for trips and parties.

Promoting the use of the Spanish language and Hispanic culture was the main purpose of the Spanish Club. The members had a chance to try different Spanish foods when they went to the "Hacienda" in Evansville. They also provided an assortment of Spanish and Mexican foods at the International Christmas party. Mrs. Mallonee was club sponsor.

Meeting at least once a month, the French Club tried to maintain an interest in the French language. This year the club members were responsible for the International Christmas party. Candy sales helped finance this activity as well as financing various restaurant trips. Mrs. Horn sponsored this club.

The German Club was sponsored by Mr. Hintzen. Although it lacked in size, it was compensated by enthusiasm. Various activities included a pizza party at Paul Weber's home. The 2nd and 3rd year club members produced a game show for the first year students. To raise money for a trip to Kings Island, the club members sold various Hershey's candies.

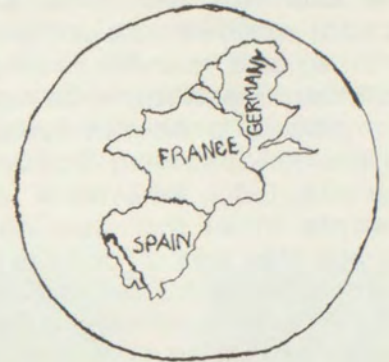

The Mexican hat dance is one example of the many fun activities that the Spanish Club members enjoy.

Discussing upcoming events of German Club are A. Neyenhaus, T. Huck, B. Poole, and R. Fischer.

By Popular Demand

As in the past years, the Student Council has been sponsored by Mr. Murray Pride. The club was responsible for school dances, school programs, and money raising activities. The Student Council also helped in the decorating of the Homecoming Dance. The club did a lot of work for people other than just our school. They had a Food Drive and collected for the needy. They donated money to other clubs. They organized a tutorial assistance program for students.

The president of the Student Council is Michele Beller and the vice-president is Michelle Heitkemper. The treasurer is Joe Evrard. The purpose of the Student Council is to make school fun and more exciting for everyone. The student body enjoyed the light slide show. Everyone came away with a better understanding of his emotions.

Today's 'SCHOLARS'—Tomorrow's 'LEADERS'

The National Honor Society consisted of students who excelled in the areas of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. A 3.3 average must be upheld to be considered for membership.

Officers included Joy Sidle, president; Michele Beller, vice-president; and Cindy Dauby, publicist.

The NHS members held a mock election in November. Students and teachers voted in the library conference room throughout election day.

On March 13th new members were inducted. Mrs. Karen Mallonee organized the ceremonies.

April 9th was the date for the Quiz Bowl, prepared by NHS members and advisors. Participants consisted of surrounding schools.

Adult advisors this year included Mr. Allen Kramer, Mrs. Karen Mallonee, Mrs. Marilyn Scott, Mr. Richard Roos, and Mr. Robert Day.

Much practice went into preparation for the Hi-Q Academic Bowl. N.H.S. participants: L. Lambert, J. Sidle, D. Elliott, and P. Weber in intense study.

Crowd Pleasers

Feet hurt? Weight loss? Assignments missing? Answering yes to all of the above indicated a dedicated band member. Fall was one of the busiest seasons for the Tell City Marching Marksmen.

Hard work paid off for the members as the award winning team was invited to perform in the Gimble's Parade in New York during Thanksgiving.

Other activities included performing at Schweitzer Fest, at home football and basketball games, and marching in the pep rally parade for the football team.

One of the many band activities is marching in the pep rally parade for the beginning football season.

New York City is the destination of Stephaine Tsantis, Bruce DuPont, and fellow band members.

Frozen in formation are Janet Lambert, Stephanie Tsantis, Stacey Peak, and Kim Kemp.

Regardless of whether the note was flat or a sharp, many people gathered to hear the melodies of the chorus.

Their activities included journeys to Evansville for contests, performing for NHS induction, singing for the Senior Citizen's Banquet, and the "Celebrate Life" Program which took place at the United Church of Christ.

The chorus hosted their third annual talent show April 15th in the school auditorium. In addition, in order to recruit new members for next year, the chorus members talked to the eighth grade junior high members.

Under the direction of Mrs. Anna Gibson, the choir which consisted of 25 members should be commended for their excellent programs.

Stardom

"Hit the lights" was a familiar phrase of the Drama Club. This year's performance, "Prisoner of Second Avenue", was held April 29 in the high school auditorium. Neil Simon's comedy consisted of a cast of six directed by Mr. Godthaab and Student Directors Michele Beller and John Rettich. Debbie Elliott designed the "prisoner's cell". Leading actor, Mark Roberts, was depicted as a frustrated unemployed executive. His wife, played by Mariah Scott, also had unemployment problems. Practices became hectic during the final two weeks prior to the performance.

Although the club was only active during the spring, officers were elected. President Michele Beller, Vice-President Cindy Brumfield, and Historian Debby Elliott kept the club running smoothly.

As the opening night draws nearer, "burning the midnight oil" isn't uncommon for production cast and crews. Clockwise Sheila Davidson, Mariah Scott, Paul Weber, Cindy Brumfield, Debby Elliott, and Mark Roberts rehearse a scene from the comedy.

"I'm a Pepper"

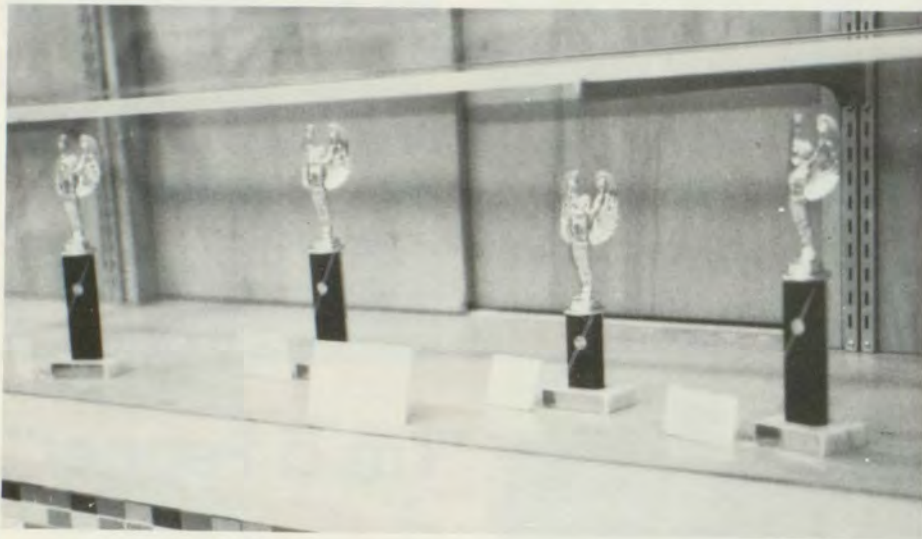

Making sure everyone caught the "Marksmen fever" was the purpose of the Pep Club. Led by Mrs. Mary Jane Buxton, the club promoted spirit by sponsoring contests such as crazy day to get the students involved. Although spirit at TCHS was at a low point, the Pep Club continued to support the Marksmen by their many activities. Kammy Kast, Mike Hubert, and Mary Jane Peter were the club's officers. The most planning went into the Christmas dance. The proceeds from this activity were used for all other expenses. Although there were fewer pep sessions, the fans were treated to tug-of-wars, pyramids, relays, and general fun during them.

Business Persons of the '80's

DECA devoted itself to being the best in sales and merchandizing. The members raised money in order to travel to competition. The past year, sixteen students entered eight contests at the annual district contest held Tuesday, March 8 at Vincennes. There were nine schools entered in competition, but TCHS was able to walk away with the most 1st place honors. Christie Terry, Becky Little, Lisa Stiles, Dan Freeman, Scott Walker, Kris Mangum, Diana Holman, and Missy Morgan represented our school at the state finals in Indianapolis on April 22.

Vocation

Organizing for competitive purposes, the VICA Club did an outstanding job. On April 13, five welders traveled to Jeffersonville to rival area participants. Steve Brown, Mark Conner, Keith Cronin, Bill Elder, and Scott Snyder traveled to regional competition on April 16. Pitted against strong opponents, the TCHS representatives did well with three of the five finishing in the top four. From here, they used the money raised by club members to travel to the competition in Indianapolis. The results were unknown at publishing time.

“In the Eyes of Youth”

Before school started, the staff worked long hours to organize the publication. Then they met at least once a week as a group, but when deadlines arrived, three times a week weren't uncommon.

All work and no play made yearbook boring so the staff managed to keep excitement flowing by holding activities for the members. Last summer, section editors went camping and during the year, holiday festivities were held.

The yearbook staff consisted of 21 students, advisor Ms. Peter, and typist Ms. Patterson. Section editors were J. Sidle, S. Williams, S. Blandford, L. Borders, J. Rettich, and M. Drake. Photographers were J. Stoen and D. Holman. Artists included W. Minnis and D. Elliott. Mrs. Belcher was copy consultant.

Finale

Five students banded together to produce this year's Marksman under the direction of Mr. Robert Waters. Definitely understaffed, they managed to produce four issues beginning February 7. First semester was devoted to instruction in journalistic procedures.

The staff positions were rotated among the class members. Being editor proved most challenging to the students.

It appeared that The Marksman would fade out along with the '83 staff due to a lack of interest by the student body. Staff members added, "We're sorry to see the paper die because it served as a voice for the student body."

"Spoons" was a favorite free time activity for the yearbook staff.

Back To Nature

"Rain, rain go away" sums up the feelings on the Outdoor Club members. Organizing late in the year, activities were thwarted by bad weather. Club meetings, led by Mr. Gary Dauby and Mr. Steve Whitaker, were held only when needed for planning future activities. As of the end of April, no outings had been held.

In order to provide entertainment for those who love the great outdoors, Mr. Mike Spencer organized special ski instructions for students and any other interested persons. The trips to Paoli Peaks resulted in lots of laughs, sore muscles, and two trips to the hospital. Disappointment was great as the temperatures threatened to melt the man-made snow. Who would have expected springlike weather in January.

Checkmate

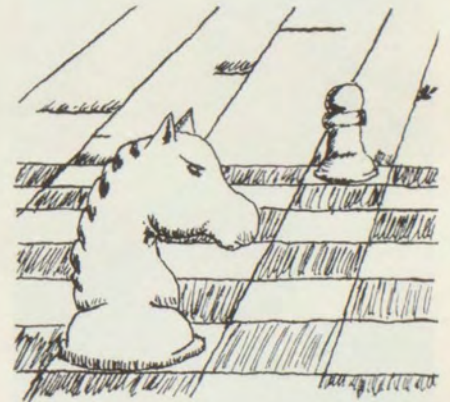

Gathering together to strain their brains, the chess club met on Tuesday nights. Competition was keen as challenges were taken. One careless move could have meant a win for the opponent. Sponsored by chess expert, Mr. Hintzen, the club learned many new skills and perfected their abilities.

Chess members were Paul Weber, Mike Vincent, John Mogan, and Larry Beard.

Although Mike Vincent abandons his chess board, there is no ill-effect toward P. Weber's and L. Beard's play.

Serving Others

Sponsoring the Boy's Intramurals proved to be a full time job for the Key Club. Prior to this experience, they were responsible for parking cars at all home football games. Beside the social activities they had, they began a drive to add members to the club. Officers were M. Minto, vice-president; J. Birchler, secretary; E. Bradley, treasurer; and E. Will, president. Mr. Page was the sponsor.

Lending A Hand

Although the track girls were no longer organized, the bat girls and mat maids were hard at work. Twenty-one girls gave up their evenings to support the athletic teams.

The mat maids, under the supervision of Coach Morton, diligently made posters for each match. They also ran errands for the wrestlers and coaches.

The bat girls met during homeroom to organize and discuss the importance of their jobs. At the field, they were kept busy retrieving bats and chasing baseballs. Other times were spent on stats.

The Basics

Spelling, grammar, literature, and sentence structure was the basis of English classes offered at TCHS last year. Students worked hard on composition papers, reading assignments, and vocabulary throughout the year.

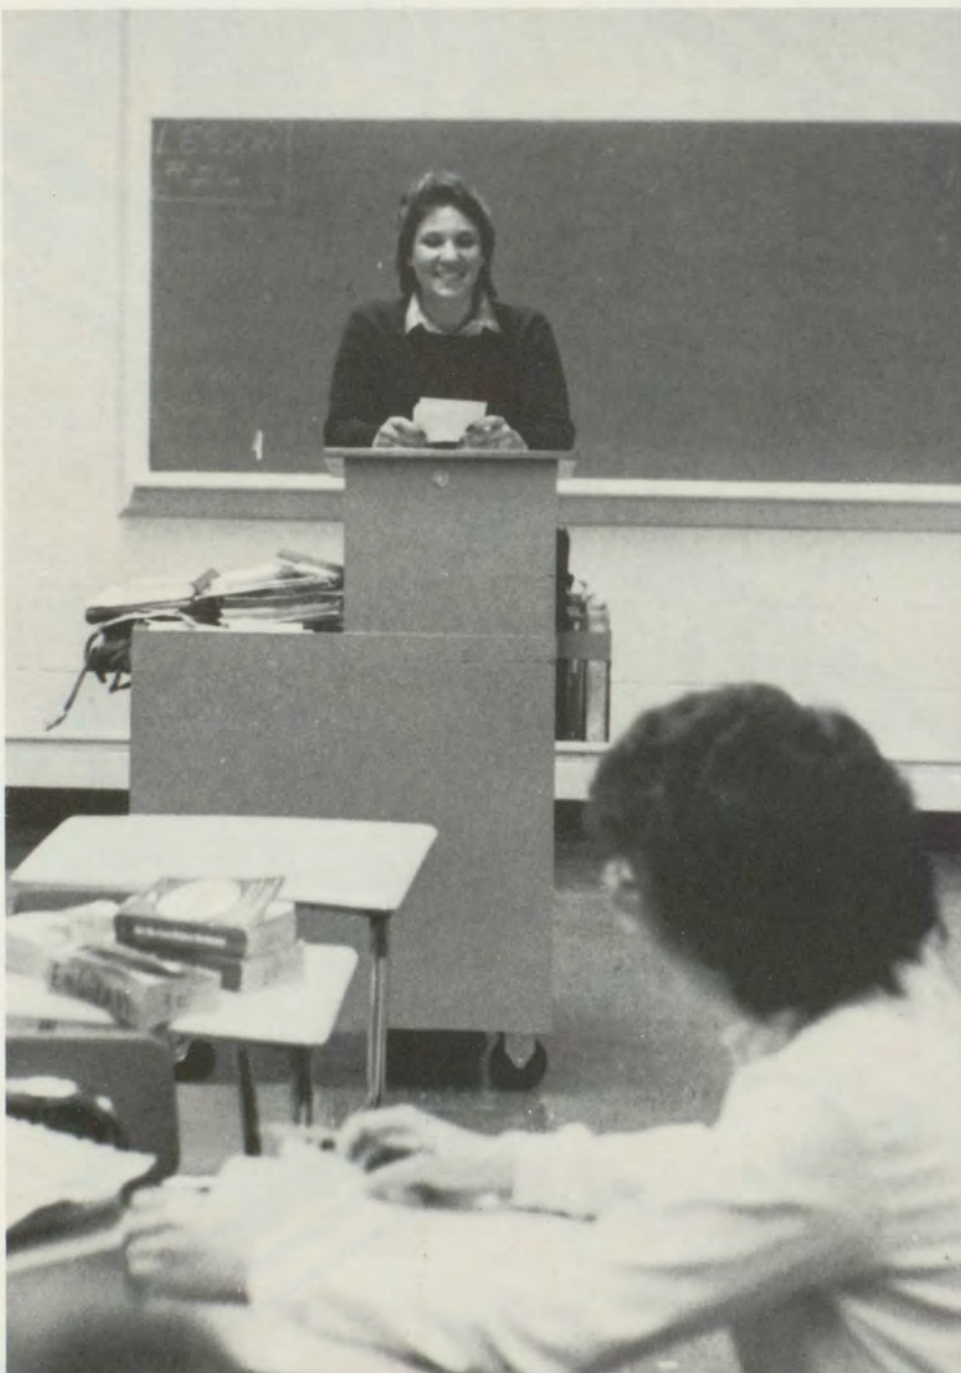

Researching for papers and speeches required a lot of effort as did working on class assignments and reading for Myth and Legend, World Lit, and American and Adolescent Lit classes. Through these classes, students prepared themselves for college and their future.

Past, Present, and Future

"We the people . . .", "Four score and seven years ago . . .", and "Give me liberty or give me death . . ." were quotes that were familiarized by students in social studies classes. Students not only memorized battles, dates, and countries, but also participated in several different activities. The Economic classes visited area banks to see the actual banking processes, and the Government classes had the Chief of Police demonstrate the use of a breathalyzer. In addition, Mrs. Scott's government class put on a mock trial.

Social studies instructors were Mrs. Scott, Mr. Miller, Mr. Hintzen, and Mr. Morton.

Exploring Scientific Principles

Teaching students about the properties and laws of math and the life around them was the main objective of the Science Department. Students were taught physical laws and theories in some classes, while in others they were taught complex chemical equations and problems, and the anatomy of various organisms. In addition, students performed scientific experiments.

Mr. Mike Barnett taught Physics and Physical Science. Mr. Ben Varner and Mr. Tom Byrd taught Biology, while Mr. Lloyd Richardson taught Chemistry, Physical Science, and the Chemistry Labs.

Getting the proper amount of a base into the solution requires concentration. David Williams finishes his experiment in Chemistry Lab.

Students at TCHS were challenged by math courses on many levels. General classes taught the basics and principles of math. College bound students prepared for the future with Advanced Algebra, Trigonometry, and Integrated Math. Computer skills will be necessary in almost all aspects of the future, so students took advantage of the Computer course offered.

Students worked hard at balancing equations figuring theorems and taking derivatives of functions.

Math instructors for the year were Mr. Robert Day, Mr. Allen Kramer, and Mr. Louis Hall.

Calculators are useful in math classes. Pictured is P. Fischer. Above: Typing in his program, J. Mohr finishes the first step to getting a computer readout. Below: Memorizing what quadrants curves enter and leave is part of Trig. Mr. Kramer demonstrated the quadrants.

Physical Awareness

Keeping your body in shape is the objective of the physical education, health, and alcohol and narcotics classes. Both the freshman and advanced P.E. classes introduced students to sports and exercises which would help them keep in shape physically. They exercised by using calisthenics and participating in various sports.

Health classes instructed the students in fundamental health care and accident prevention. Students had the opportunity to speak with authorities on subjects of mental health, dentistry, and nutrition.

The Alcohol and Narcotic class exposed students to aspects of alcoholism and drug addiction. These students learned the effects of drugs and alcohol on the body, both mentally and physically.

The instructors for these classes were Mr. Bud George, Mr. Robert Lochmueller, Mr. Mike Page, Miss Jody Patterson, and Miss Terri Werner.

Gaining experience behind the controls of a car before going on the streets is one of the objectives of using the driving range. The state requires four hours behind the wheel. The students are teamed with another student and the instructor gives them directions from the tower.

Don't D & D

One event that sophomores looked forward to was getting their driver's license. Most students gladly paid $26 because not only could they learn the proper way to handle a car on the road, but they could save money on their insurance.

Simulators provided driving situations which required quick reflexes. Students found them more difficult to use than they imagined.

The students advanced to the range. Receiving instructions from a radio tower, the teens practiced turns and stops as the passengers picked up cones. This phase ended and they ventured forth on the street. Miss Patterson and Mr. Katterhenry were the instructors.

Simulators enable Rick Wilgus and Chris Bolin to learn how to react to different driving situations.

Students work on worksheets which Mr. Lochmueller passes out, as a supplement to the regular textbook in the Alcohol and Narcotic classes.

Foreign Fancies

Seeing famous French and Spanish plays enabled students to practice their skills in understanding a foreign language. French classes went to Central High School to see Cyrano de Bergerac, performed by the Theatre of Performing Arts. Spanish students saw a performance of Don Quixote at Central also, and watched "The Man From La Mancha" in class.

Games tested students' ability to quickly recall foreign words and phrases. This provided a fun way of reviewing and learning the language. Skits were another way of using verbal skills to help students' pronunciation and grammar.

The foreign language classes had the opportunity to speak with Mireille Battut, a French cultural ambassador, who came to Tell City High School in March. Mireille was born in France but lived in Africa as well. She answered questions on subjects of French music, cooking, youth, and history. In addition to speaking English, Mireille speaks Italian and Spanish. Students found her interesting to talk to and enjoyed listening to her.

Above Right: Learning about Hispanic America, third and fourth year Spanish students organize bulletin boards. Here, Debby Elliott puts up her display on the Dominican Republic.

Tapes of "le francais" speaking help French students perfect their accents.

Although it is not very widely used, some students consider German to be an important part of their education. Matt Waninger, Laurie Dreyling, and Dennis Barket are in Mr. Hintzen's German class.

Dream Makers

Exploring the adventures of art is very interesting, considering the range of a future career in this field. Art classes expanded the students' talent and the spectrum of art awareness. By enrolling in several art classes it is possible to learn the art of drawing, sculpturing, painting, weaving, pottery, and textiles. Some of the projects made during the year were entered in the Tri Kappa art show, Brescia's Art show, and the Town Square Mall display.

The ceramics class took a field trip to Brescia college. The art classes were considering painting murals on the walls of TCHS. Mrs. Hatfield instructed the class.

The Sound of Music

Much hard work goes into developing a good band and learning the basics of music. The Music Theory class learned such things as the proper way to write music and transposing.

The band practiced long hours in order to perfect songs which they gave in the many band concerts. The band proved their expertise by the enthusiastic responses from the audiences at performances.

Many students participated in another class, dance band. Students worked on perfecting several popular songs which they played at the Patio and at a show for senior citizens. The dance band's excellent playing was shown by their first division rating at a band contest.

The band director was Mr. James Ashby and his assistant was Mr. James Bertucci.

Being a soloist requires much practice and concentration, Mark Haller demonstrates his talent.

Music Makers

The Tell City High School Choir had a very busy year giving concerts and going to concerts. Two groups represented the singing performers: the Marksmen Singers and the Concert Choir.

The Marksmen Singers gave many performances for civic groups around Tell City. The Choir joined with the singers from the United Church of Christ to perform a Christmas concert and Easter service. They went to contests in Evansville and Indianapolis where Superior and Excellent ratings were awarded.

The Choir had two major fund raisers this year. They sold fruit cakes in the fall and sponsored a talent show in the spring. They also took trips to listen to other performing groups. The director of the Choir was Mrs. Anna Gibson.

Getting Ready

Numerous Home Ec. classes helped prepare students for the future. Class participants learned proper ways to cook, sew and care for children. Learning to care for family members when sick and precautions one may take to prevent home accidents were taught in Family Health. Students in Consumer's Ed. learned how to manage money and spend it wisely. Family Relations taught ways to maintain satisfying relationships with family as well as other students. The teachers were Ms. Litherland, Godthaab, and Town. Home Economics of the 80's is innovative.

A Helping Hand

There are many exciting and rewarding careers in the field of health care. In Health Occupation Class, the students received instruction for many jobs, such as, Hospital and nursing home aides. The students were taught in three areas: the classroom, laboratory, and a health care facility. The teacher was Mrs. Linda Foertsch.

The students that took this class enjoyed being with a variety of people. When asked about the class, their responses included: "Great experience!" "I wasn't as interested in this field before I took the class."

Debits and Dictation

Getting a good beginning in training for a career is an important part of a student's high school curriculum. The business department provided classes for each possible career.

Shorthand classes taught students the helpful skills of taking dictation, transcribing notes, using proper grammar, and applying punctuation. This class was also used by students preparing for college, part time jobs, secretarial work, or just for personal use.

Prospective accountants and bookkeepers received the opportunity to learn the basics of beginning accounting. They were able to use calculators to finish problems and work on practice sets. These practice sets allowed students to use the skills they had learned from the very beginning of the course and apply them to future problems. These practice sets included ledgers, journals, checkbooks, invoices, and other important forms to help the students gain experience in using these in jobs. In addition, General Business and Business Law classes helped students learn more about the functions of business offices and procedures.

Big Bucks

Students were able to get experience necessary for future job hunting in Intensive Office Lab. These girls learned the proper ways to operate complicated office machines and were exposed to the many different office jobs such as office manager, supply clerk, receptionist, and secretarial workers. During the year, Mrs. Krieg acted as coordinator while teaching the girls the various business practices.

Another class which gave students job experience was Distributive Education. After taking this class, students were able to start out with an employable skill. The instructor for this course was Mr. Steve Whitaker.

Construction

Not many classes provided the opportunity for students to receive on the job training. The Building Trades and Industrial Trades classes did this. Students were able to construct their own house which was put up for sale after its completion. Special emphasis was placed on several areas of building, such as carpentry, brick laying, concrete finishing, and electricity. The Industrial Trades classes, taught by Mr. Murphy, developed better techniques in painting and using wire brushes, bolts, and wrenches.

The Building Trades Program, instructed by Mr. Yuda, was designed to help students develop good safety habits and interpret plans and blueprints. Both classes prepared the students for either directly entering into the job market or for furthering their education in a related field.

Blueprints, Plans, and Products

Those interested in printing had several opportunities in Graphic Arts. Beside printing hall passes and school forms, they printed programs for various school functions. They were kept busy during the school year. Mr. Harpenau was the instructor.

T squares, masking tape, and green drawing paper were familiar to Mechanical Drawing students. This class proved too much for some students as they realized daily studying was required in order to understand the material. By second semester, those truly interested in obtaining knowledge in this field were challenged by Mr. Dyer's varied assignments.

Students in Woods classes built items ranging from gun cabinets to floor lamp frames. By looking at finished products it was easy to see they had followed Mr. LeClere's instructions explicitly. Interested teachers were often soliciting students' expertise in building personal projects. These classes were popular.

Mechanical Minds

The welding class was taught by Mr. Gary Dauby. The students in his class were taught to use gas torches, to cut pieces of metal into various shapes and sizes, and to connect these pieces together. It wasn't all work though, the class went on a field trip to Jeffersonville, Indiana in order to see welders at Jefferson Boating and also to participate in a contest.

The commercial and industrial maintenance classes were taught by Mr. Lloyd Hauser. In this class students learned to service and repair various pieces of shop machinery. Potential jobs for students which took these classes are working in small job shops, large industrial factory, heating and air-conditioning shops, generating plants, and coal mines.

Hydraulics, pipe fitting, and machine processes were only a few of the Basics learned by Scott Strobel, Jeff Quick, and Charles Amburgy. Above Right: Following the proper safety rules for a drill press, Metals students work on a class project. Taking advantage of the equipment available, Keith Cronin practices in welding.

Preparing for the Work Force

This year's electricity class, taught by Mr. Maurice Harpenau, was one of the most complex of the vocational courses. The students learned how to do basic house wiring and use various testing instruments. They also learned how to do basic repairs on radios and television sets. However, this course did not just consist of repairing things. Students were also taught basic electrical principles, electrochemical processes and ways of electric power production. Mr. Harpenau also taught power mechanics. In this class students were taught the basics in building and repairing small motors. Faculty members had the opportunity to bring in small engines for students to repair.

Along with the electricity/electronics course, auto mechanics which was taught by Mr. Ed Cissna, was a very popular vocational course. They learned to maintain a car's cooling, heating, and electrical systems. They also learned to repair problems in the car's engine and exhaust system. These classes were designed to provide students with an opportunity to specialize in a particular field and have a better chance for employment.

Pig-skin Players

At the end of the first half, it looked as though Tell City would defeat Jasper and advance to regional playoffs. However, Jasper came back strong and Tell City went down with a score of 28-10. This gave TC a 7-3 record, making them second in the Big 8 Conference.

The team was led in scoring by Seniors Marty Sweat and Ed Hess, both of whom made the All Conference team. Also making the team were Bill Elder, Dan Zuelly, Larry Devillez, and Bart Peter. In the post-season rankings, Sweat was picked for the All-State team and Hess finished only 9 field goals short of a national rating as a place kicker.

Coach George contended, "The team achieved pretty well with only six seniors playing."

The freshman football team had an outstanding season this year with a record of 7-1, tying for first in the conference. Quarterback Bart Mulzer was complimented by sixteen fine backfield and lineman. In the course of the year, Tell City accomplished alot having beaten both Jasper and Boonville. According to Coach Whitaker, "They showed a great deal of character and spirit. They never gave up. These players will give Tell City many victories during the next three years."

Serving Up a Few

The volleyball team, with seven returning lettermen, finished the season 4-16. Being new, Coach Werner observed, "It took us time to adjust to each other."

Leah Goffinet had a 92% serving record, and Jenny

Schneider served 102 points. Kim Ziegelgruber had an 80% spike record, and Cam Champion set the ball 140 times.

Swing for Success

The tennis team finished the season with a 9-9 record. In the sectional, TC beat Crawford County and Barr-Reeve but lost in the semi-finals to Salem.

Mike Rea, most valuable player, was chosen for the conference team. Most improved player was Rick Braun who finished third in the conference.

Coach Harpenau stated, "With lots of hard work next summer, the team will be very good." Senior Rick Braun added, "To have a successful season, the members should get down to the courts and play with the big guns (powerful players) of TC before the tennis season begins."

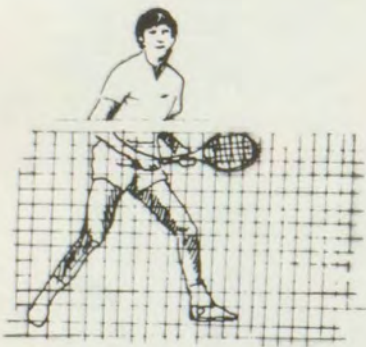

The tennis team includes: C. Arnold, T. Davis, T. Stabile. Row 2: S. Saalman, R. Braun, K. Waninger, T. Goffinet, M. Rea, R. Wilgus, Coach Harpenau, E. May.

Small but Powerful

The Cross Country Team began the season anew. With only 5 runners, 2 veterans, the season's record of 22-33 was very good. Coach Busse summarized, "Without experience, things are a little tougher. Usually the freshmen have someone to pattern themselves after, but not this year."

Tell City finished 7th of 15 teams in the Sectional Cross Country Meet. This was the first time since 1972 that Tell City had not finished in the top 5 teams. However, Mike Wilson advanced to Regional competition. This was a pleasant surprise as he had not finished above 8th place all season. Mike said afterward, "I was scared before the meet started. Once I got into the race, it was over before I knew it. Next year, I hope the whole team can go."

Although he was injured most of the season, David Goffinet still pushes himself to run.

The Great Eight!!

With only eight guys swimming this year, the season was "kinda tough". Although finishing the season 4-6, the team finished the season with a 4th place in sectional and advanced two members to the state meet. Brian Robbins won the 100 and 200 freestyle and Steve Johnson placed second in diving. All of the members did "very good" in sectional though according to Coach Page.

The team really "tore-up" records during the season. All but two were broken, diving and 400 freestyle relay.

Although only losing a senior, Matt Meunier, the number of "returnees" and "rookies" is uncertain.

Mgr. Michaeline Borders and Steve Johnson discuss his dives and fill out the required diving sheet.

Center: The style of a stroke is easy for Dean Luecke.

Above Right: Brian Robbins shows that he has the skill and energy to do the butterfly.

Splash '82

The girls swim team did well this year. They had a record of 6-3 and placed third in sectional, the best for Tell City in three years.

"Although no one qualified for state, the girls swam very well," specified Coach Page. "With only one senior this year, the team next year should be strong."

All but one record was broken this year, this was the 100 backstroke held by Kim Kemp. At the end of the season, the record holders were as follows: Sally Mills—100, 200, and 500 freestyle, 100 butterfly, 200 I.M.; Holly Becker—100 breaststroke; Karen Ludwig—50 freestyle; Janet Thiery—diving; 200 medley relay and 400 freestyle relay.

Striving for Glory

The basketball season got off to a slow start with team members having little playing experience and a new coach. As the season advanced they gained confidence. By sectionals, they seemed to have it all together and after defeating the South Spencer Rebels, the Marksmen advanced to the semi-finals. In the final, heart-stopping game, Tecumseh squeezed by Tell City with a final score of 56-55, ending the season with a 4-18 record. Although they were defeated, all could be proud of the Marksmen's last game.

Jeff Quick and Tracy Keown tied with the high field goal percentage and rebounds. Scott Strobel led in assists.

The reserve team finished with a record of 9-11. "These boys' commitment to basketball is evident. I'm looking forward to next year," quoted Coach Harpenau.

Turnovers add extra excitement to a game as well as change the pace. Scott Strobel manages to come up with the loose ball.

Although free-throws look easy, total concentration is needed to make them. Jerry Weatherholt illustrates his form.

Score More

The freshman team finished the season with a 13-6 record and looked promising for the future years. Leading scorers during the year were Bart Mulzer, Brad Eberle, Scott Schmitt, Jerry Weatherholt, and Bill Holman.

On many occasions, freshmen plunged against tough opposition but always played hard and enjoyed the game. One important victory for the team was beating Boonville 54-46 which was the first time they had played "organized" basketball.

Against tough defense, Brad Eberle makes an off-the-glass shot look easy.

Row 1: C. Billings, B. Busse, B. Meunier, C. Neyenhaus, M. Dyer. Row 2: S. Schmitt, J. Pruitt, K. Wood, B. Zuelly, S. Herrmann, B. Mulzer, B. Holman, K. Lautner. Row 3: Mgrs. J. Goffinet and J. Lawalin, J. Weatherholt, M. Roberts, B. Eberle, B. Simpson, G. Howell, Coaches Naylor and Chinn

Time outs prove essential in planning strategy for future plays.

Pin for the Win

"Big Bill" Elder ended his season at the state meet in Indianapolis with a record of 32-2. He was the second TCHS wrestler to accomplish this. Teammate David Goffinet went as far as the semi-state before being defeated.

The team's final record of 8-9 does not show the great achievements made during the season. With only four seniors, the team succeeded in winning the Washington Invitational Tourney for the second consecutive year—a new record. They finished fifth in the conference. Coaches Morton and Yuda praised the team. "They were a group of very hard working young men who improved with each meet."

Defeating Mater Dei's Matt Crowe, Bill Elder turns to the crowd for their approval.

Practice time enables wrestlers to improve their skills as pictured by Brian Voges, Tom Hughes, Todd Stevens, and Gary Henrickson.

Although noise from the crowds is seldom acknowledged, Coaches Morton and Yuda shout some winning advice to our wrestler.

Breaking Even

At the beginning of the season, Coach Patterson felt a .500 season would have been out of reach, but with hard work and dedication the team managed to finish the regular season 8-10—pretty respectable. With 2 wins in the sectional they finished with an overall record of 10-11.

A well-balanced team of hard working girls put in a lot of effort to beat Cannelton by 2 in the first game of the sectional. They then beat Tecumseh to move to the championship game, playing Boonville in the final game, only to lose 30-34.

The Tell City girls were led in scoring by Cam Champion and Lisa Lambert. Lambert had the most rebounds; Champion had the best free throw percentage and Kim Batie had the best field goal percentage.

Right: Point guard Cam Champion contemplates which play to run.

Working to keep the team spirit, Coach Patterson prepares to send them back into the game.

Center Right: Playing good defense, Perry Central makes it tough for Tell City to get the ball into play.

Rally

Many school records were broken by the girl's reserve basketball team: winning more games than in any other season, setting a new single game scoring record, going undefeated in the Big 8 Conference, and scoring 18 points by a single player in one game. The team finished the season with 9 wins and eight losses. Seven of those wins were in conference play. Micki Cronin set the single game scoring record with 18 points. Running mate, Jamie Voges, helped with the scoring responsibilities. Congratulations for a good season and good luck to the future varsity players.

Free throw shooting often decides the outcomes. Debbie Tsantis shoots the bonus.

Matches In The Mud

Being a member of the tennis team was not as rewarding as one hoped. Finishing with a 1-10 record they faced many disappointments including mud covered courts and postponed matches.

Coach Naylor was pleased with his young team. "They improved from the first of the year."

Number 1 singles was Leah Goffinet with a record of 4-6. Goffinet got Most Valuable Player and Laurie Dreyling, Most Improved.

G. Ress. Row 2: C. Borders, J. Birchler, J. Goffinet, E. Will, M. Everitt, T. Heck, S. Schaefer, J. Mills.

The Marksmen golf team, coached by Guy Clark, had a season to be proud of. With a record of 40 wins and seven losses, the team was second in the Big 8 Conference and the first Tell City golf team to qualify for regional competition. In addition, they possessed the best TC win/loss record for golf.

Coach Clark described his team as a bunch of good guys who worked hard and had fun; however, when necessary, they got serious and did well. He also stated, "The team members have matured and they are more confident in their playing abilities."

Chipping onto the green, Murray Minto hopes for a birdie as Ed Ress looks on. Right: Minto leads the way to the next hole.

Stormy Weather

Despite the fact that 16 baseball games were cancelled due to rain, the Marksmen team had a successful season through May. The conference record stood at 3-2 and the season record was 8-6 as of May 23. The season highlight was when the Marksmen came from behind by scoring 15 runs in just one inning thereby defeating the Boonville Pioneers. Also the Marksmen defeated tenth ranked Memorial with a score of 3-2.

Larry Parker led the team with 18 RBI's. Parker also was highest with a batting average of .457 and an on base average of .559. Steve Malone had the best fielding average of .950. Coach Spencer was proud of his team.

Concentration is necessary for pitching as shown by Jerome Hagedorn.

Waiting for the Pitch

"Rain, rain go away." cried the reserve baseball team this season as seven games were cancelled due to muddy dugouts and sloppy fields.

The gym evolved into a practice field as the mighty red and white ran sprints, played whiffleball, and worked on pitches. Inside practice became a hassle quickly for Coach Barnett and players.

Despite the weather, the record, was 3-1-1. Bart Mulzer had some exceptional plays throughout the season; while Marc Beller proved himself as best hitter; and Rick Wilgus was named best fielder.

Waiting for the pitch, Dennis Barket stands inside the batters' box, ready.

Individuals Count

Although he had few numbers, Coach Busse had many players with strength and spirit. The team finished 6th in the conference and 7th of 25 teams in the sectional. Coach Busse was proud of his team, "We competed with teams having double our number, and gave them some competition." Mike Hagan set a conference record in the shot put with a throw of 53'6". He also broke the school discus record with a toss of 162'5". Mike Hagan's lengthy throws won in the sectional and regional and advanced him to state.

John Nelson received the Most Valuable Runner and Mike Hagan, the Most Valuable Field Event performer.

The girls' track team finished 2nd in the conference and tied 4th in sectional, setting several records. Among these were two individual Big 8 and school records set by Debbie Ludwig in the 100 and the 200 meter dashes. A school record was set by the 800 meter relay team, T. Hildebrandt, B. Ludwig, K. Ludwig, and A.

Kleeman. Winning the Big 8 400 meter relay and advancing to regional and then to state was the team of D. Ludwig, K. Ludwig, B. Ludwig, and T. Hildebrandt.

Hildebrandt was Most Valuable Field Event Performer and D. Ludwig was Most Valuable Runner.

Go Big Red

S-P-I-R-I-T is inspired in the students with the aid of the cheerleaders. Because the students only see the "finished product" at the sporting events, they don't realize the long hours and hard work behind the perfected yells and peppy chants.

Following the spring election, the cheerleaders worked toward next year's athletic program. Some of their activities included attending summer cheerleading camp, being involved in money making projects, and practicing yells.

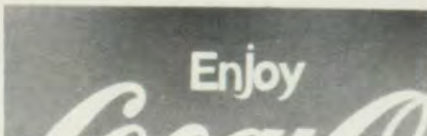

The cheerleaders stopped at nothing to help the spirit improve. They painted their faces, sponsored a "Mr. Legs" Contest, and recruited students and faculty members alike for pep sessions.

Freshman cheerleaders include: L. Sollman, S. Malone, K. Sweet, and M.B. Daum.

Friendly Competition

The Intramural program began in the fall with girl's volleyball. The championship title went to Tyler's Defenders for the third year in a row. The group of seniors was very proud of this accomplishment. "It was a difficult game, but I loved it!" exclaimed Susan Blandford.

After Christmas, the boys' intramurals basketball began to organize with the help of the Key Club and local merchants. Sports World won the tourney.

"Class of 1983"

Senior class officers are Cindy Dauby, secretary; Sue Rodgers, vice-president; Jackie Dauby, president; and Marty Sweat, treasurer.

The last year at Tell City High School finally arrived for the class of '83. After twelve years of struggling, their goal was finally reached: to have in hand their much desired diploma.

The seniors chose cream and crimson as their class colors and the carnation as their class flower. The 1983 senior motto was "The class of 1983 will not follow where the path may lead but will go where there is no path and leave a trail." Highlights of the year included the senior party, prom, and graduation ceremony.

There were mixed feelings brought about by the thoughts of graduation. Many seniors felt scared about graduating, scared about leaving their friends, and scared about their futures.

As the year drew to a close, an epidemic began to spread. This epidemic was referred to as senioritis. The only known cure for senioritis was a prescription by the High School Administration known as a diploma.

The 1983 seniors have touched their family, friends, and teachers. The people which they have touched will never forget nor will they ever be the same again. The seniors are now free to go out into the real world and try their own wings.

"Class of 1984"

In the fall of 1982, the incoming Juniors looked forward to many different experiences, one of which happened to be comparing their new class rings to those of their friends. One of the anticipated events for the Juniors was the selling of magazine subscriptions. They sold them to pay for the 1983 Prom. Mr. Robert Day worked with a committee of Juniors to decide colors, theme, and date for the event.

Juniors established scholastic goals and strove to accomplish them as the year began considering colleges that would help them make their dreams come true by giving them the education that would be necessary. By the end of the year, some Juniors had already received their acceptance to the college of their choice.

The class of '84 thrived on the thought of becoming a Senior and leading the school. They hoped to be looked up to and respected by their younger classmates. They participated in all pep sessions and ballgames. As the year came to a close, the Juniors gave a "sigh of relief" because they had completed the hardest year in their high school career. Now they were setting their sights upon their final year at TCHS: to be a fun-filled and challenging year.

What are you looking forward to in your senior year?

"I am looking forward to renewed school spirit that I hope will take place within the next year."

"I have enjoyed the sports program. I feel that there needs to be more pep sessions. Baseball players need pepping too."

"Seniority over the younger classes and a feeling of leadership."

What advice would you give to the incoming Juniors?

"I know as a Junior you are already tired of school, but the best thing to do is work hard: study. In order to make anything of yourself, you have to work. It won't be handed to you on a silver platter."

"If you are planning to go to college, it is best to get your hardest classes over with (such as chemistry.)"

"Class of 1985"

Although the sophomore class of 1983 had as many of the same pastimes and honors as previous classes, they gave it "the ol' 1983 touch."

The students finally earned the rank of sophomore after receiving their class jackets and ordering their class rings. However, the best honor of all was the loss of the title—"greenie".

Many of the sophomores took a big step forward by enrolling in driver's education class. They experienced the ecstasy of controlling their own vehicle, along with the agony of butterflies, bumpy roads, bent fenders, shaken instructors, and screeching halts.

The sophomores weren't nearly as shy at pep sessions or in the halls as they had been their freshman year. They were commended for their enthusiastic support at all rallying events. They relaced some of the school spirit TCHS has lost in previous years.

Since the sophomores showed their potential for growing and becoming responsible adults, many of them received their first jobs.

Yes, 1983 was a year of "ups and downs" for the sophomores, but it was a year that won't be forgotten.

Sophomore class officers are: (counterclockwise) Secretary, Julie Steen; Vice-President, Jody Phillips; President, Jeff Fischer; and Treasurer, Bridget Wargel (behind the lion).

"Class of 1986"

The Freshmen of 1983 chattered among themselves as they hurried down the halls of Tell City High School trying to find their first period classes.

The year ahead was to be an exciting and enthusiastic one for them, as well as challenging. The new year held in store new friendships and a chance to grow in knowledge.

As always, the Freshmen year held many new paths to explore. This year was the first year in which they democratically elected class officers and homecoming attendants.

Their goals to back the Marksmen, to become one of the Marksmen, and to lead the Marksmen in the future compelled them to actively support all school functions. Their spirit showed in their posters and daily enthusiasm, but was most evident in their faces.

As the year progressed and the end of first semester came, they experienced their first high school semester examinations.

Second semester brought anticipation for the Freshmen as the end of school approached. They dreamed of that day when they would no longer be called "Greenie" and they had finally earned the rank of "Sophomore".

At Our Best

In talking to members of the faculty during the 1982-83 school year, it was found that their opinions were similar in that they felt Tell City High School is among the best.

In unanimous opinion, teachers stated that Tell City has one of the best vocational programs in the area which provide students with an opportunity for job preparation. They also displayed appreciation of the recent expansion of the school.

Mr. Robert Day was in charge of preparation for the evaluation, which occurs every seven years, by the North Central Association Committees. In preparation for the reviewing, T.C.H.S. held a self-study last school year, which included all aspects of the school environment. The committee made up of 13 principals, superintendents, and teachers, visited T.C.H.S. February 8. Recommendations from the association will not be received until the 1983-84 school year. Tell City High School will use these recommendations to improve any area that can be bettered.

As we leave the halls of TCHS for another summer, we can look back on the past year with mixed feelings. Forgetting the lack of snow, the huge amount of rain, and the phenomenal amount of injuries, will be difficult. However, when the three hour blackout, the heightened school spirit during sectional, and other joyous occasions are remembered, it is easy to reflect on the 1982-83 school year with fond memories. One class may be leaving, but another will arrive. It is certain that each class whether coming, going, or in-between, will have a rough road ahead. I feel that we, the student body, have been prepared for whatever lies ahead. Now educated, we have the ability to face challenges as they arrive, and therefore we have the capability to succeed at whatever we choose to do.
