

The image features a vibrant red background decorated with white confetti, streamers, and balloons. The confetti consists of small, scattered diamond shapes. There are three large white circles representing balloons, each with a wavy line trailing downwards. Interspersed among these are several white, curly streamer-like lines. The overall design is festive and celebratory.

Celebration

Dear Tell City High School:

Hi! How's it going? It's been a pretty good year so far, don't you think?

We saw some new faces around the building this year. One, in particular, belonged to Mr. Larry Moore, Principal. He seems like a pretty nice guy, so far. Other newcomers included Mr. Michael Boenigk and the kids in the Life Skills class. This class relieved some students from the boredom of study hall by allowing them to help as peer tutors in the moderately handicapped class. Mr. Nick Rice moved from the junior high school to team teach the vocational Building Trades class. A lot of us remembered taking shop from him while we were in junior high. Mr. Jonathan Gurney, Band Director, celebrated his first year at Tell City High School with a new baby daughter and a fourth place win at the State Marching Band contest at the Hoosier Dome.

Due to the new state law, the Class of 1987 was the last to be able to graduate mid-term. That's pretty much a bummer for the rest of us who have to go four full years.

Something we've never seen before in our halls was the girls wearing stirrup pants. Also very popular were long (and the longer the better) sweaters and sweater skirts. For the guys, "Coke" tops and crew cuts seemed to be in.

Larry Moore is serving his first year as Principal of Tell City High School.

Welcome to Tell City High!

Welcome Back

The football team had a great year and managed to put some spirit back into Tell City High School. The entire town and school were decorated with signs and ribbons. Nearly all of the local stores were sold out of decorating supplies when Tell City went to the big state final game at the Hoosier Dome.

As I write this in January, I thought that we probably could have used a little more snowfall. As usual, it went either north or south of us and we ended up with flurries and disappointment. Despite the lack of snow days, however, students were pleasantly surprised to receive a free afternoon on January 28 due to a corporation-wide teachers' meeting. How did you spend your afternoon. I went shopping with my boyfriend.

I went to the movies just about every weekend this year. Some of my favorites included Top Gun, The Golden Child, An American Tail, Karate Kid II, About Last Night, Crocodile Dundee, and The Three Amigos. Did you catch any of these movies?

Advanced PE students Leah Birchler, Jessica Steed, and Ann Northerner get "in the swim."

Giving up their study hall, Peer Tutors Rick Schneider and Lisa Waninger help Chad Mullis, Angie Garrett, and Joe Kluck to use money in the Life Skills class.

Mapwork is required in Mr. Carver's Basic U.S. History class.

Taking advantage of some free time, Joe Glenn, Kelly Askins, Pat Soloman and Jim Stutsman spend their time talking, while Scott Pannett works on his homework.

The biggest downer of the year was the number of businesses that closed in Perry County. Almost every time I picked up the newspaper, there was a huge "Going Out of Business" sale being advertised.

Every morning in the hallways, I could hear kids talking and their conversations were never complete without "C-ya", "Whaa!", "Chill out", "Hey", "Decent", or the Old Faithful of "Let's party!"

Let's not forget the horror stories—like is the yearbook real or is it a figment of everyone's imagination? Several people tried to help but the faithful 16 finally managed to put this together. I'd like to add a super big thanks to Ms. Peter, Mr. Boenigk, and Mrs. Belcher for bailing us out of our sinking ship.

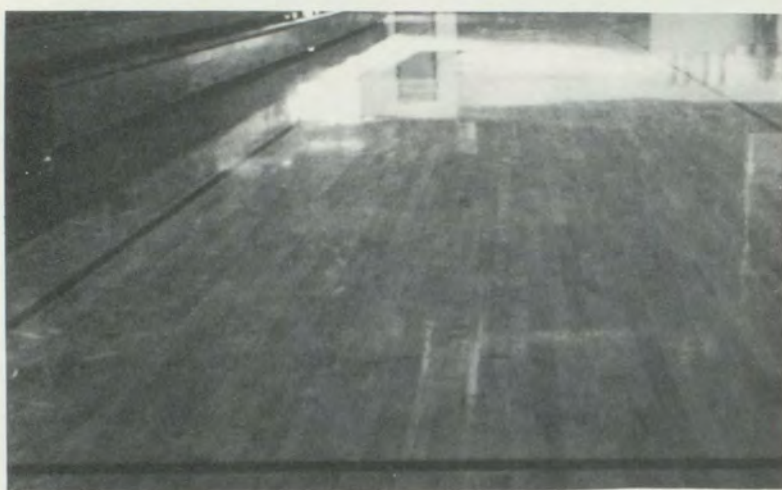

Well, I've got to get to work on the rest of the book now. As you turn the pages, I hope your memories of this year are as fond as mine.

C-ya next year,
Lisa Tribble, Editor

Greg crowns Kim as the 1986-87 Football Homecoming Queen.

Kim's Court

While the Tell City High School Marching Marksmen "took the field", the 1986-87 Football Homecoming Queen candidates and attendants were nervously preparing for their entrance onto the field. There was a lull in the music and then Emily McWithey and Brett Overmyer, crown and football bearers, began making their way across Legion Field. First to appear after Emily and Brett were Tricia Coomer, freshman class attendant, and her escort, Dion Birchler. They were followed by Theresa Linne, sophomore class attendant, along with her escort, Brad Ramsey. The junior class chose Kim Peckenpaugh as their attendant who in turn chose Keith Zellers as her escort. Now it was time for the Queen candidates to make their entrance in Corvettes. The first to be helped out of her car by escort, Scott Wilgus, was Lorna Foster. Next, Kim Oberhausen made her entrance with the help of Greg Arnold. The third candidate to appear was Tammy Pannett, escorted by Troy Tuggle. Finally, Mary Jane Smitley exited her car at Rick Arnold's side. As tension filled the air, it was announced that the 1986-87 Football Homecoming Queen was . . . Miss Kim Oberhausen. Kim was presented a bouquet of roses by Michelle Pund, Student Council President. After the festivities, Kim was asked how she felt about being elected. She answered with, "I couldn't believe it. I was happy just to be up there."

Queen candidates/escorts: Lorna Foster, Scott Wilgus, Tammy Pannett, Troy Tuggle, Mary Jane Smitley, and Rick Arnold.

Reign of Queen Jill

Lace hearts and red and white balloons adorned the gym in preparation for the 1986-87 Basketball Homecoming festivities. The red carpet was rolled out by Mr. Overmyer with help from Michelle Pund and Michelle Frey. Sara Alvey and Angie Etienne announced the incoming procession which was led by Tara Alvey and Matthew Ewing, crown and basketball bearers. Next came Tonya Coomer, freshman class attendant, and her escort, Sonny Labhart. The sophomore class attendant was Courtney Busse who chose Coy Zuelly to be her escort. The junior class elected Missy Rhodes as their representative and she was escorted by Nick Goffinet. Jill Jarboe led the Queen candidate procession with her escort, Joey Meyer. Janice Meunier followed with Mark Kellems at her side. Tammy Pannett crossed the gym floor next with Eric Stephens. Finally, Lorna Foster approached the trellis with her escort, Ron Crawford. Then, it was announced that Jill Jarboe would reign as the Homecoming Queen. Jill said that she was "happy and excited" to win.

Following the crowning ceremonies, Jill and Joey pose for Emerson Studios.

After School?

Students are involved in many different activities after school. Some of these activities are athletic, some are scholastic, and some involve a talent. Each after school activity requires a certain amount of commitment by all involved. Everyone who stays after school has a reason for doing so whether it is to win a game, meet a goal, or just to goof off.

Dean Kellems, Grade 10, said, "I stay after school for wrestling practice to improve my wrestling ability so I'll be able to perform at my best ability." He, like a lot of other students, want to do their best and staying after school for practice helps. Said Eric Kleaving, Grade 10, "You have to be prepared or your competition will leave you behind." To be the best takes lots of practice and there's no better time than after school.

Some of the band students stayed late in preparation for the Solo and Ensemble Contest. Amy Goffinet, Grade 10, said, "I wanted to get first divisions on my ensembles so I thought after school practice would give us better chances." Some band students stay after school just to help Mr. Gurney and/or Mr. Reasoner.

Jeff Dickenson, Grade 9, said, "I stay after school to catch up on new jokes, goof off, and try to bum a ride off of someone so I don't have to walk home." So ... there is life after school.

Frank Miller and Matt Haller practice a scene from Heaven Can Wait on the stage of the Tell City High School Auditorium.

The basketball team stays after school nearly every day during the season. They practice long hours to be the best they can be.

Matt Haller and Julie Christmas stay after school to practice their speech. They hope to win at a district speech competition.

Weekends

As the infamous "Wicked Wanda" would say, "It's Fri-i-i-day!" And, of course, we can't forget Garfield who "lives for Saturdays." Weekends in Tell City are exactly what students live for. In fact, without weekends, Tell City would, according to some students, be nothing but a ghost town.

A few students were asked how they felt about their weekends. Rick Arnold, Grade 12, replied, "Weekends, to me, are a necessity—I couldn't do without them!" Danna Hosler, Grade 12, added, "I'd go crazy without them."

Some of the things which kept Tell City High School students occupied during the weekends were: "dragging Main", sitting at "the Pool", and going to the movies, eating out, or attending athletic events and dances. Most of these activities were reserved for Saturdays.

Sundays were for relaxing or playing football at the pool. They were also used to prepare for the next week of school when we lived for the weekend once more.

Tracy Markham finds time during her busy weekend to give a dubious and embarrassed Angie Etienne a "home" perm.

The "Group" at the Pool are busy discussing their plans for the weekend.

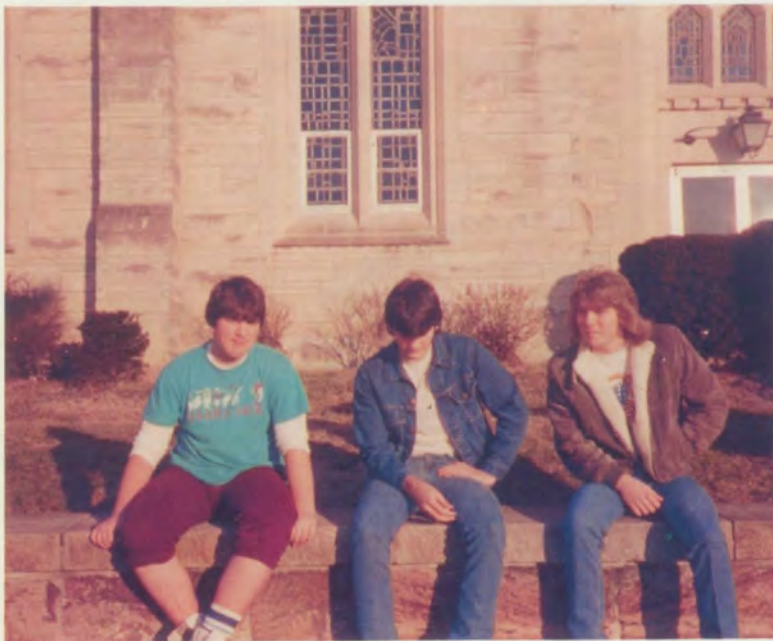

Robert Boterman, one of two foreign exchange students attending Tell City High, shows some confusion in adjusting to the American Way of spending weekends.

Karen Sheppard is spending her weekend enjoying one of the great American pastimes—shopping.

Mike Wallace, Scott Nance, and J. P. Mahoney enjoy their time away from Tell City High School by sitting on the St. Paul's Church wall.

Gene Smith and Brad Slunder "munch out" at the local McDonald's before their night "out on the town."

Spirit!

The Bryant Taylor Sports Arena is festooned with streamers, crepe paper, and balloons as spirit soars at the session before the Hoosier Dome.

Pep sessions at Tell City High School, although less frequent than last year, hit their height during the excitement preceding the football semi-state game and the final game at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis. There was no doubt in either the players' or the coaches' minds that the entire town of Tell City was behind them one hundred per cent following the pep session held before the final game. All students in the Tell City-Troy Township School Corporation attended the pep session along with many people from the community. The roof of the Bryant Taylor Sports Arena was nearly blown off with Marksmen Spirit!!

Escorted by #23, (Lorna Foster) Chris Bolin hopes to be crowned "Homecoming Queen".

"Move! Move that orange!" shouts the crowd as Shane Crawford does his Best to oblige.

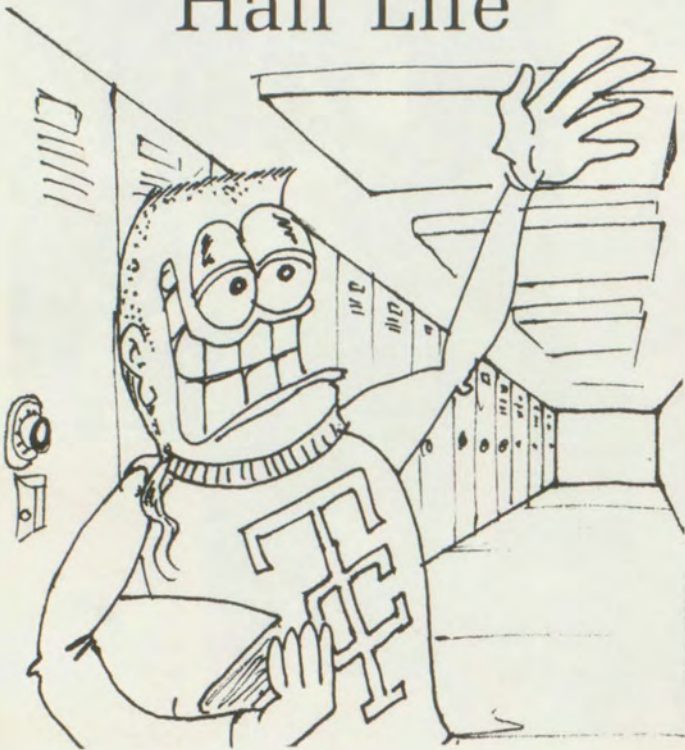

Hoping to gain a lead, (and about 15 pounds) James Moser scarfs down a gooey sundae during a pep session early in the year.

Showing off on Halloween, Theresa Linneo and Mikki Stiff also show school spirit, while Rebecca Smitley and Emily Dreyling study diligently.

Hall Life

Lisa Waninger and Ginger Burnette discuss an aspect of Student Life, as Merrie Noble and Barb Walling look on.

Hall Life

Students "go with the flow" through the hallways of Tell City High School during the five minute passing time.

Cafeteria Hall is always a busy place, especially during the two lunch periods.

During the brief five minute break between classes, many different activities took place in the hallways of Tell City High School. While some students dashed to classes, others were seen gathering outside of classrooms to talk about the latest happenings.

The hall life before the 7:45 A.M. bell was full of activity, too. Freshmen Shannon McCallister commented that, "she uses mornings to catch up on homework." Juniors Julie Poole and Tammy Peter were seen making their daily trip to the school's major hang-out, "Huck's." Sophomore Pam Flannagan took a leisurely stroll through the halls of TCHS while Senior Missy Wilbur spent her last year of goofing off in the mornings by "eating cookies from the cafeteria and drinking Orange Crush" as she caught up on the latest gossip.

Michelle Evrard and Craig George take a few minutes to talk quietly between classes.

The Working Class

Karen Sheppard and Chris Kress are diligently working at Noble's IGA.

Some students have other things on their minds after school and on weekends in addition to homework and having fun. They WORK! Jobs are very important in the lives of members of "the working class."

Students interviewed expressed various reasons for working. Some wanted the experience that a job could offer so they would be better prepared for employment after high school. Others were interested in banking their money for the upcoming expense of college tuition. Then, there were those who only wanted the extra money for clothes, trips, cars, and car expenses. Asked why she works, Michele Krygielka said, "I like working at Citizen's National Bank because I get to meet new people."

There was variety also in the type of places where student workers could be found. Fast-food restaurants, different kinds of retail stores, and grocery stores topped the list. Kari Kleaving worked at Holiday World one summer and she said, "It was nice to have spending money."

Whatever their reason and wherever they work, "the working class" deserves mention because they make money the old-fashioned way—they EARN it!

George Parker prepares the meat at Buehler's Buy-Low.

Yearbook Survives!!

What is a yearbook staff? When asked this question, many meanings come to mind. While some people have a picture of a student slaving over a typewriter in a frenzy desperately hurrying to meet that deadline, others see it as a good way to catch up on the latest gossip while learning a sense of responsibility. Sure. Right. But what really goes on at these meetings? Well, although it looks like all fun and games, it's not. Staffers spend countless hours drawing lay-outs, writing and typing body copy, and cutting pictures to fit those seemingly endless number of pages. This year was especially rough because our former advisor resigned, and all of the duties fell upon Mr. Boenigk. But despite all this, we managed to pull it through together!!

Pictured above is a very close-knit yearbook family, taking a brief break out of their busy schedule.

CLASSES

Hold on to the Moment

Single file and yet together,
We have shared our greatest days.
And we carry common memories
In different ways.

Though we don't know where we're going,
We will cherish where we've been.
I want to cry.
I want to shout . . .
Want to let this feeling out.

Hold on to the moment.
Let the feelings show.
Hold on to the moment.
Never let it go.

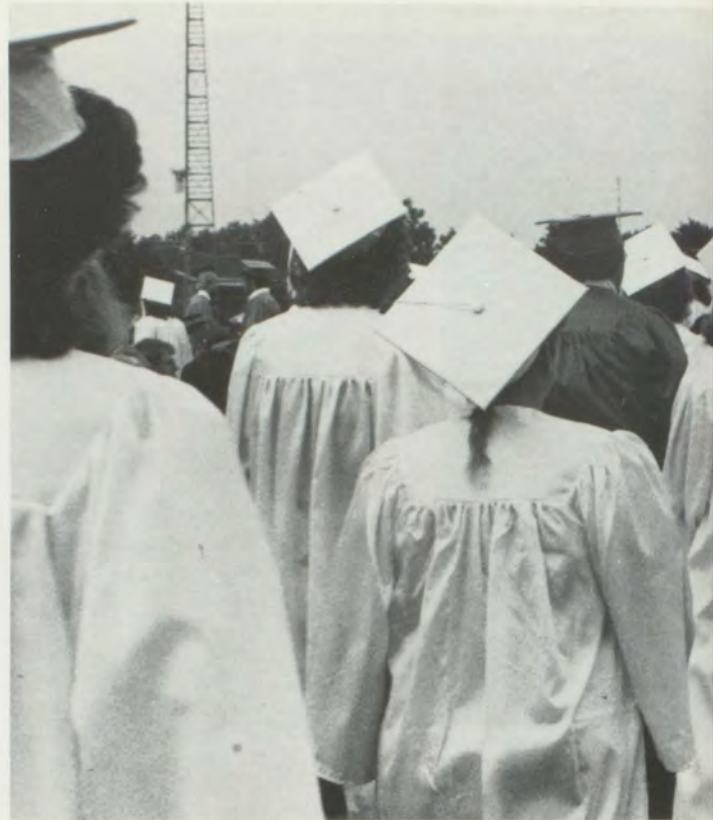

I can picture us together
With my arms around my friends.
Just let me hold on to the moment,
Before it ends.
There was laughter.
There were tears.
Through the dozen golden years.

Chorus

With 18 voices singing strong, the TCHS choir kept the audience swinging who gathered to hear their repertoire of music.

Their activities included performing for the NHS Induction, the Spring and Christmas Concerts with the band, the Christmas convocation during school, and performing at Lincoln Hills Nursing Home. They also held a recital with the ABC Dance Studio, which was a new thing for them.

Three students, Suzy Bolin, Miechelle Laflin, and Effie Jones, journeyed to Evansville for District Contests. We hope that Mr. Reasoner and the Choir keep up the good job!!!!!!!

BAND

Entering TCHS, you stumble upon a large room accomodating about 90 students making noise into strange-looking objects. Suddenly the noise stops; a somber-looking chap raises a baton; and a "B flat scale" results. Then you realize you have found the TCHS band room. After the Marching Marksmen have "warmed up", they proceed outside for marching activities. Students scurry for spots on the field, waiting for the command of "stand by" to get started. After several sets of drill and complaints of sore feet, the band director says, "just one more time". As practice continues day after day, "District gets closer and closer. After receiving a "division one", they then proceed to regionals and then to the Hoosier Dome. The Marching Marksmen brought home "4th" in the state. After marching band is over concert band and solo and ensemble come. The long hours of practice are still not over. Months of "total commitment", pay off.

Preparing for band camp are: Dawn Schaubeger, Mr. Gurney, Pat Miller, Mr. Reasoner.

Stuffing their faces at the band banquet are: Dawn Schaubeger, Jill Jarboe, Joey Meyer, Jane Hoch.

These winners were presented with ribbons.

"CELEBRATION"
'87

As Bill Maddox prepares to tell his tale, Mrs. Kramer relaxes to enjoy his predicament.

"But my dog did eat it!" seems to be Beth Saalman's alibi today.

Excuses

Bringing light into the teachers eyes isn't as hard as it may seem. You could bring an apple or a flower, but the common approach seems to be excuses. Of course, the light may be a raging fire or a small glint of amusement but your goal was achieved.

Most are acquainted with the common excuses like "my dog ate it" or "my mom threw it away", a few teachers submitted some of the better excuses they have had in their teaching careers. Here are some: "my cat scratched it up for the litter box" and "insects ate it." And a cheerleader with the wrong shoes once said, "my cousin from Greece is borrowing them."

Media

While walking into a classroom, you see a video cassette recorder and a television; you realize you won't be watching "Beverly Hills Cop" or Bon Jovi's latest video. Your first thought may be "Oh, no, a film!" or "a movie? What am I going to do to pass the time?" How about watching it? Although you may think of films, movies, or V.C.R. tapes as boring, other students learn a great deal from them.

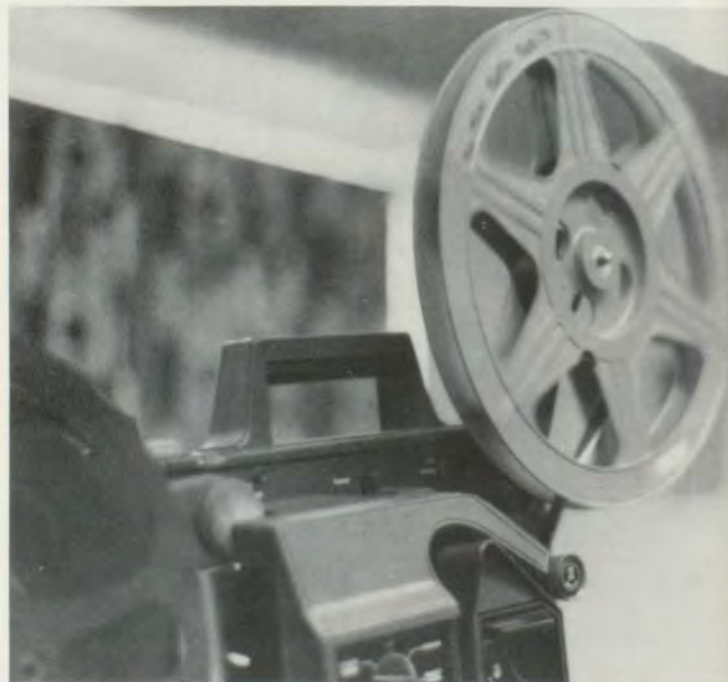

Why show films? Contrary to some beliefs, teachers don't present media to stall for time to grade papers or sneak around the darkened room to spy on you. They are shown to "give a different perspective on the subject." Unfortunately, Mr. Kramer has "not yet found any good films on math." He has shown a grand total of 1 film in the last 10 years.

But what happens if the film you are watching is on material that you already know from the textbook? Or you might not be the only student who doesn't particularly care for a film on primitive fly behavior. Voice your opinion. Telling the teacher about it may be a way to point out that the film isn't doing its job.

The substance abuse class at T.C.H.S. gives student reviews so that when they see a movie, their reviews of them enables the teacher to see if the material is outdated or giving information that the students already know.

So, next time you recognize something that looks vaguely like a film projector being wheeled to your next class, instead of "writing notes or playing tic-tac-toe", watch the movie. You might just learn something.

Although Mr. Varner is right-side up, his film seems to disagree with him.

Tesa

Teacher Expectation: Student Achievement (TESA) is a new program at TCHS this year designed to improve teaching skills. Eight teachers were chosen to participate from TCHS.

This involved going to one meeting a month at the Patio, where they would learn about a new "strand". Strands incorporate concepts into teaching such as "delving, listening, touching, praising with a reason, etc." Then teachers would practice the strand for the next four weeks.

The participants would practice, and each teacher would ask another teacher to "code" them on whether they utilized the current strand. Mr. Moore and Mr. Overmyer would support them by taking classes for teachers who "coded" another. The code sheets were then given to the teachers observed, so that they could see how well they interacted with of students.

Mrs. Litherland, the chosen representative from the Tell City Troy Township School Corp., went to a workshop in Las Vegas to coordinate and train other teachers in area schools. She thinks that "the overall program is good. They are all things that we've (teachers) known; this just brings them back to the surface."

Mrs. Martoglio is using the technique of walking around and being close to her students.

Mrs. Litherland is coding a fellow teacher.

Ever wonder what a code sheet looks like? Take a peek!

Student Helpers

Students aren't just in school for driving teachers crazy. In fact, there are several tasks completed by students to make the school day at TCHS run more smoothly. One such section is the Peer Tutors for the life skills class who are "completely indispensable" according to Mr. Boenigk. Their tasks include everything from providing instructions to gathering data. Also among the staff are office aides. Their job consists of gathering absent lists, running errands, providing information for visitors at the designated desk in Jr. hall or anything else the office might request. Gym aides are also beneficial to TCHS. Faith Cronin admits "I get to pick on Freshmen but sometimes the roles are reversed." Library aides are also important. They check and locate books, type, and hold order in the library. This just proves that students aren't just in school to occupy seats; they are needed to make TCHS what it is.

MAKING

To many students "making the grade" can mean anything from searching for "creepy bugs" in advanced biology to slaving over a hot stove in foods class. While some students come to school to "rest up from the weekend", others attend in order to secure an exciting future for themselves. Career choices could range from being a short order cook at "Ching's Chicken Wings" to managing one's own corporation.

Should a student decide to become either a teacher in the Tell City area or a reporter at the Tell City News, it would be good to take grammar, literature, speech, mass media, and composition.

If you would like a job at Southern Hills Mental Health Center or Perry Co. Memorial Hospital, or just want to figure why your brother "puts mustard in his milk", you might be interested in taking sociology and psychology.

Mathematics is the way to go if you would like to work at Tell City National Bank, Strobel Ins. or for everyday use. These class could include geometry, trig., calculus, business math, consumer math, and computer programming.

For those of you who want to know what your friend "Julio" is saying, it might be a good idea to investigate the foreign language offerings at TCHS. These include French, German, and Spanish.

Lorna Foster smiles while dissecting her rat in advanced bio., as Scott Schank, Mike Slunder, and Marc Rust watch.

"Hit the Beach!" seems to be the name of this particular French dialogue written by Krista Blunk, Mary Peter, and Carrie Reed

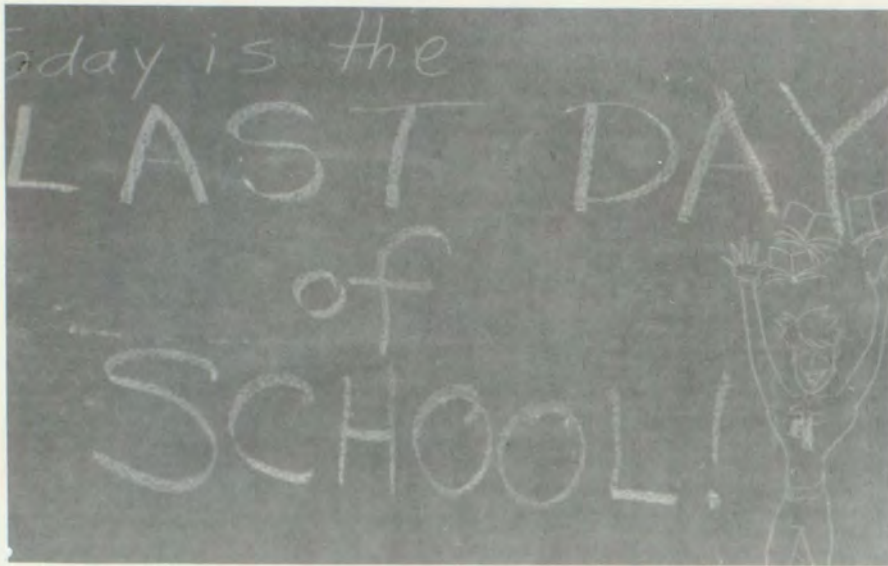

Students interested in a vocational career are urged to sign up for classes ranging from building trades and auto mechanics to drafting, woods, and metals with plenty of choices in between. Success in these classes might land you a job at Tell City Chair Co. or Cambron Chevrolet.

Those students with an appreciation of music may take band, chorus, music theory, or instrumental ensemble. Also included in the fine arts offerings at TCHS are painting, drawing, weaving, fiber design, and ceramics. Proficiency in these areas might make you eligible for a job at either DB Pro Music Shop or Accent.

If you are a student who uses the "hunt and peck" method for typing, then keyboard and typing application can definitely quicken your pace. Other classes that can prepare you for secretarial careers at Mulzer's, Zoerchers Ins., or any other place of business include business math, office procedures, business law, shorthand, and intensive office lab.

Three of the several required courses at TCHS include P.E., health and safety, and substance abuse. They can supply experience for becoming a police officer or a physical therapist.

Although there are different reasons for being in school (from "my parents make me" to "going to college and getting rich"), if taken seriously, "making the grade" can make your future

Top Ten

Following the first semester the students ranked in the top of their class were drawn from the masses to be honored by the yearbook. Students are ranked by the cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA). Most of these students were already recognized at the honor banquet among themselves. We would now like to honor them before the entire school. CONGRATULATIONS!!

Honor Banquet

The honor banquet, held on May 4, acknowledged the students who made the honor roll four of the first five grading periods. Guest speaker, Bruce McQuigg, is the director of the Student Leadership Institute at the Indiana University campus at Bloomington. The students are given pins for every year they have attended the banquet. The four year seniors are Lorna Foster, Connie Howland, Donald Scales, Dawn Schauburger

Life Skills

THE 1986-87 SCHOOL YEAR WELCOMED THE LIFE SKILLS CLASS (LSC) FOR THE FIRST YEAR AT TCHS. ROOM 612, (THE OLD ELECTRONICS ROOM) HAD TO BE PREPARED BY INSTALLING A STOVE, REFRIGERATOR AND WASHER/DRYER TO FACILITATE THE MANY DOMESTIC ASPECTS OF THE LIFE SKILLS CURRICULUM.

THIS WAS ALSO THE FIRST YEAR FOR THE COMMUNITY-BASED APPROACH, WHICH EMPHASIZES USE OF THE COMMUNITY.

ALL LSC STUDENTS EITHER HAD JOBS FOR PAY OR WERE INVOLVED IN TRAINING. WORK SITES INCLUDED: EACH OF THE TELL CITY—TROY TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS, LINCOLN TRAILS.

PART OF THE LIFE SKILLS PROGRAM IS PLACING STUDENTS IN WORKING CONDITIONS, LIKE PLACING CHAD MULLIS IN THE CAFETERIA.

HORNE, HOLLY HAYCRAFT, KEVIN WISEMAN, SHARON CARMICHAEL, MR. BOENIGK, JIM HALL AND SHERRI HILDENBRAND.

MOTEL, DAIRY QUEEN, TELL CITY LIBRARY, AND PERRY CENTRAL.

THE OTHER PART OF COMMUNITY TRAINING INVOLVED GOING GROCERY SHOPPING, LEARNING TO ORDER AND PAY FOR FOOD AT RESTAURANTS, AND UTILIZE THE MANY OTHER FACILITIES THAT TELL CITY OFFERS.

ANOTHER FIRST THIS YEAR WAS THE PEER TUTOR PROGRAM. MR. BOENICK, THE LSC

INSTRUCTOR, WENT TO THE STUDY HALLS AND ASKED FOR VOLUNTEERS TO HELP OUT. THESE STUDENTS WERE TREATED AS PARAPROFESSIONALS AND ASSISTED LSC STUDENTS WITH THEIR WORK.

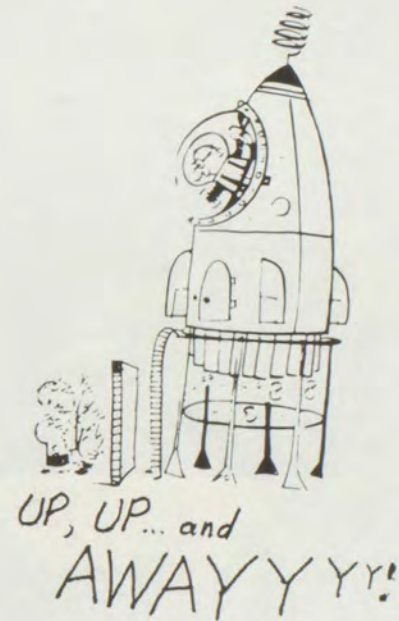

A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY FOR PEER TUTORS WAS GOING TO I.U. IN BLOOMINGTON TO ATTEND THE ALL-STATE PEER TUTOR CONFERENCE. THEY SPENT THE NIGHT MARCH 13, AND WENT TO

WORKSHOPS ALL DAY SATURDAY TO LEARN ABOUT PEER TUTORING STATEWIDE. THE HIGHPOINT OF THE CONFERENCE WAS SEEING JERI JEWELL, THE TV COMEDIENNE WITH CEREBRAL PALSY, WHO WAS ON "THE FACTS OF LIFE" TV SHOW.

On your marks . . . get set . . . go! . . . and out the doors they leap! Jason is the lead—but wait, an upset! Tricia overtakes him! Wow! What a race folks; you should be here. Now they're approaching the lockers—it's neck and neck—it's . . . a photo-finish. The winner is . . . Hermie!?!

A typical day at T.C.H.S. ends as the final rush of students leave their seventh period classes and go their separate ways. Although a few students stay at school for various activities, many will proceed home taking no more than a pen with them. Even so, a few poor souls will "lug their locker" home with them for another latenight session with the books; yet they return to the marathon entitled "school". Some may be there just "to see John" or to "tell Susie something important." For the others who don't sleep-walk for seven hours a day, we, the 1986-87 Sagittarius academics staff, would like to wish the best of luck to you in achieving your future goals.

Saying a final farewell to Mrs. Buckman's World Lit. class are Connie Howland and Kim Oberhausen.

Varsity Football Makes State

A victory leap by Chris Bolin raises spirits.

Number 27, Kane King, carries the ball backed by fellow teammates.

History Makers

The Tell City High School football team made history this year by being the first football team from Tell City to play in the state finals.

The trip to the "Dome" took much more than luck. It took superior playing by the team and extraordinary training by the coaches.

In sectional play at Reitz Bowl, spirits were high when the final buzzer sounded. The Mighty Marksmen had defeated the Mater Dei Wildcats with a score of 14-12.

Tell City got revenge on the Lawrenceburg Tigers in the next round of play-offs. Although defeated by the Tigers in the 1985 regional, the Marksmen enjoyed a victorious final score of 15-14 in the 1986 game.

Next, the Marksmen faced the Danville Warriors in semi-state play. Hundreds of Big Red fans crowded the bleachers to watch their beloved team soundly defeat Danville with a score of 21-8 TELL CITY WAS GOING TO STATE!

The team was congratulated with a morning pep session, afternoon dance, and victory cake. Then, a public pep session was held in the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena to show the players and coaches that Tell City was behind them all the way.

The streets were lined with signs, streamers, and decorations in support of our mighty team. Excited Marksmen fans loaded onto five buses and their spirits were high and their cheering was deafening as they reached Indianapolis.

Our team played valiantly but still suffered a defeat to the Whitko Wildcats with a final score of 26-0. However, it really didn't matter. The Tell City High School Marksmen football team had a super season and we were very proud of them.

This interception didn't work, but the Heritage Hills High School player didn't get the ball either.

Fighting off opponents, we see Craig George, Number 44, still with the ball.
As he kicks the ball, Chris Bolin is pressured from behind by Lawrenceburg.

Swimmer Makes State

This year the boy's swim team held their own.

The spotlight was centered on Eric Kleaving and his trip to the state competition on February twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth. He placed 29th out of 32 in the 500 meter swim, and 32nd out of 32 in his 200 meter race.

Next year, the team is losing only one person due to graduation—Tony Martoglio.

Thinking only of the win, Tony Martoglio dives from the starting block.

THE TELL CITY MARKSMEN BASKETBALL TEAM DID NOT HAVE ONE OF THEIR BETTER YEARS. MAYBE ONE OF THE REASONS THEY DID NOT DO AS WELL AS THEY COULD HAVE, IS BECAUSE MANY OF THE PLAYERS DID NOT START PRACTICE UNTIL LATE IN THE SEASON DUE TO THE FACT THAT THEY WERE ON THE FOOTBALL TEAM.

THEY MADE IT TO THE SECOND GAME OF THE SECTIONALS THIS YEAR BY DEFEATING CANNELTON. THE FINAL SCORE WAS AN EXTREMELY CLOSE 63-62. WE SAY FAREWELL TO FIVE OF THE VARSITY PLAYERS THIS YEAR, GREG ARNOLD, GENE SMITH, RICK ARNOLD, BILL KENDALL, AND CHRIS BOLIN. GOOD LUCK IN THE FUTURE.

It's a Pin!

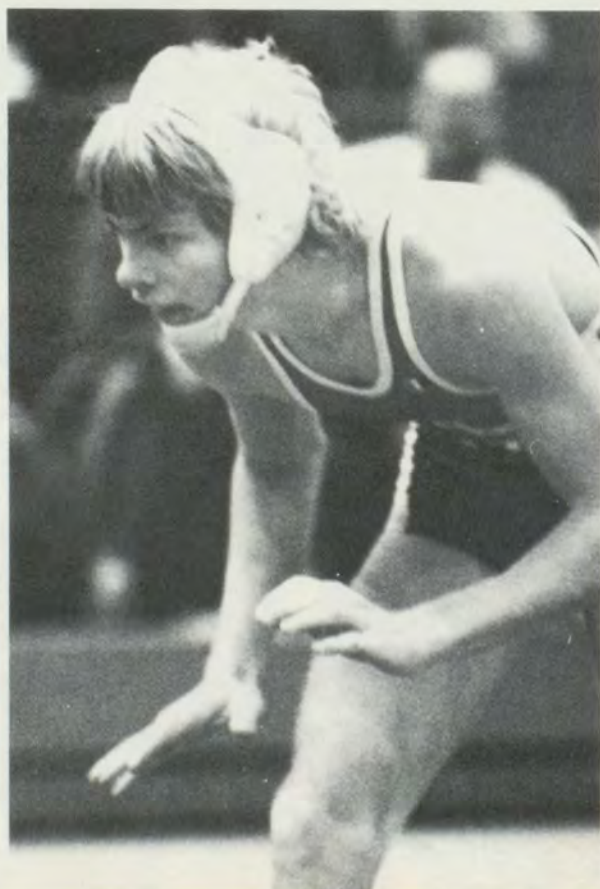

The Wrestling Team this year may have been small, but they were mighty. There were four people that placed fourth in the conference held on January twenty-fourth. They included Mark Terry, Dusty Marchand, Dean Kellems, and Jeremy Backer.

Brad Slunder was forced to sit out most of the season due to a shoulder injury he received at the triple dual held here at Tell City.

Planning his strategy, Scott Schank is positioned for the "shoot".

Field Commanders Take It All!

The position of field commander is claimed to be the highest honor in the marching band. Tell City H.S. had Dawn Schauburger and Pat Miller as this year's field commanders. These two accomplished their 110% of their job and received the "Best Drum Major award at every band contest. Dawn stated that going undefeated as a field commander gave her the reassurance she needed to know that she was doing the right things. Pat felt it was a great feeling to step out of the line of Field Commanders and accept the award. Both feel that they are going to miss their job in the band and all the friends they made during their years in band.

The fondest memory Dawn will remember is first time the band performed at the Hoosier Dome. She claimed that it was the most emotional performance ever for her. Pat will always remember the time the band received the "Grand Champion" award at Princeton's Invitational band contest. He said that he and the rest of the band climbed over the fence and ran out on the field to meet the field commander and see the trophy. Also, making it to state all four years in high school band made them feel that they fulfilled their goals of being a successful field commander.

The Marching Marksmen have been attending state and placing in the top four for nine years. The Marching Marksmen recently placed fourth at the state championships this fast fall. This year the Marching Marksmen placed fourth again. Both field commanders were disappointed, but they were thrilled to be at the state championships.

Congratulations to the band's and the field commanders' victories this year!!

Now is the time for all Seniors to look back at their years at T.C.H.S. They started off as the "GREENIES" of '84" to end up maturing into the Senior class of '87. 1987 was an exciting year for many Seniors as were previous years, but this is the year of gaining leadership of the school.

Many will excel in careers they have been dreaming of, while others will settle into the domestic family life. But overall, the Seniors will always remember with fondness, the years spent at their Alma Mater, Tell City High School. FAREWELL SENIORS!

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Moore represent the corporation by handing out awards to outstanding students.

First Year

Mr. Larry Moore, our new principal, formerly from Corthersville Junior/Senior high school, brings to Tell City High seven years of experience at being a principal. Before that, he also had seven years experience of being a teacher of math. When asked what he enjoyed most about Tell City High school, he replied, "The overall quality of the school." We are all looking forward to many fruitful years with Mr. Moore. Again, Welcome!

Acknowledgements

I won't deny that this yearbook was a struggle for me, a first year Special Ed. teacher with no experience at yearbook. It has, however, provided me with a number of benefits that I would not have had otherwise. Nothing of this scope is possible except as a team effort, and I want to thank the many members of our "team" here.

The first person to thank is Mr. Moore, our principal. He facilitated this book in countless ways throughout the year. The staff at TCHS has been helpful, especially Ms. Sarah Peter, who has been invaluable as a consultant, and sympathetic ear to the trials and tribulations of high school yearbook sponsorship. Mrs. Becky Belcher also spent many hours editing and typing student copy.

Next is Mr. Mike Anders, and the staff of The News, especially Larry Goffinet for all the sports photos. They also were understanding and responsive to the crazy deadline situations that occur getting out a publication, and let us use many of their photos.

The professional photographers in town have been useful in getting the photos processed. After I learned to use the darkroom to make prints, Art Gerber was especially good about getting the film developed promptly, at a busy and hectic time for him.

Last, but certainly not least, is the student staff itself. There were many changes in personnel this year, often without notice, which made the people who stayed and completed pages even more valuable; in particular those who stayed after the school year was over: Michelle Laflin, Lisa Tribble, Pam Flannagan, Beth Saalman, and Beth Wetzell. Thanks also to the other students who helped during the year with the innumerable tasks involved with yearbook.

P.S. To the students: I apologize for any omissions or deletions, mis-spelling of names, etc. If they exist, they were due to inexperience and not in any way intentional.
