A Rhyming Good Time

he yearbook could be described in several ways. Some see in it their struggles and accomplishments. Others see their years of fun and excitement. Most people see it as a precious book of memories that will last a lifetime. The yearbook is more than a book of pictures. It is a story of the lives of many people. Each page holds its own special memory.

The freshmen have only just begun this portion of their story. Our seniors are coming to the end of a long four-year journey. Every class must triumph throughout the year working toward that precious piece of paper, better known as the diploma, a tool that is needed to help you all through your life.

We are a school that keeps up with the world. We try our best to help others and give back. This year the students celebrated Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The students have participated in numerous charitable foundations. Tell City High is a school that cares. We will always be here to lend a helping hand.

Still while we continue with our travels through all the up and downs we will be ready when our time comes. We will always remember that we are the Marksmen and together we can achieve anything.

*If you feel the need to succeed,
you will indeed.*

Doing the wave during a pep session is the sophomore class.

Giggling together are senior Amber Thomas and Stephanie Newton.

Performing a chant is freshman Mackenzie Alvarez.

Fighting for their spot is Junior Dylan Froehlich and Senior Katie Kalin.

A Thought to Think

Academics

nother year has passed here at Tell City High School. We know you'll miss it, but don't cry because it's over; try to smile because it happened. We have many accomplishments to be proud of and many memories to think back on, like cheering at basketball games, riding buses, and stressing out over upcoming tests. Even though many students choose to remember spending time with their friends and playing sports above taking tests, we still recognize those who have made great academic achievements.

Tell City High School had an astounding amount of students who received the Honor Roll for each six weeks and students whose grades improved with each report card. These accomplishments include many students who were heavily involved in sports and still obtained their academic goals.

With the sky as our limit, Tell City High School has many prosperous students who are striving to meet the highest goal.

You have brains in your head and feet in your shoes.

You can direct yourself in any way you choose.

Building a castle out of clay are seniors Corey Young and Tyler Albin. They worked long and hard on their project.

Sitting in class is senior Ashley Edwards dressed up for Creepy Clown Day.

All Aboard the Crazy Circus

Senior Katie Kalin and Mr. Hayes clowning around. While Mr. Hayes honks his horn Katie honks his nose.

On the morning of October 10, 2008, students walked through a hall of mirrors into the Bryan Taylor Sports Arena. When we stepped into the gym it was easily seen that it was no longer just a place for basketball, but a flying circus for everyone to enjoy. Everyone marveled at the gym's transformation. As we peered into the crowd we could see a numerous amount of clowns, mimes, and lion tamers.

Many students see this day as a day of relaxation or to get out of class. However, the true meaning to the pep rally is to recognize the students' achievements and hard work over the years. The skits this year had everyone laughing and cheering. The top five skits this year were the mimes against the door, the ballerinas dancing, the circus family opener, Mr. Stewart's lion taming, and the band's involvement in some of the skits. We owe a lot to our Renaissance class. If it were not for their planning and hard work the pep rally would not have been possible. And a special thanks goes to the students and teachers who helped put it all together.

Left: Our own Renaissance committee puts on a class act. They were no Swan Lake, but it was enjoyed by all.

Without a sound, seniors Michael Saalman and Corey Young still made the crowd roar.

Receiving an award for competing in the Special Olympics is Brian Kanneberg. Brian participated in the Olympics for four years.

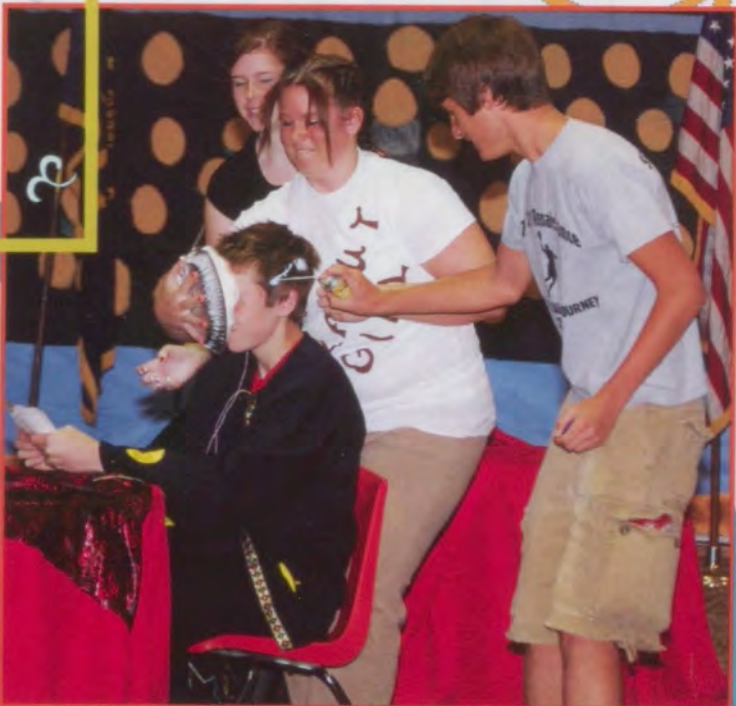

A Perfect Friday Morning...

The most time consuming part of the pep rally was the decorations, but in the end it was so worth it."

Miranda Zuelly

"The high point of the Academic Pep Rally, was when the band performed 'Margaritaville' in memory of teacher Steve Whitaker."

Derrick Woodfield

Accompanying his band mates is senior Robby Pannett on drums.

Playing guitar at the rally for the second year in a row is senior Trevor Nelson.

Getting his just desserts is sophomore Michael Richmer. Sophomores J.D Bryant and Miranda Zuelly served him.

Shape of Things and Stuff

Juniors Nick Hawkins and Alex Cole compete for the ball at a French and Spanish Club soccer game. The two clubs tied.

Ashley Waninger, Erika Hauenstein, and Lily Wargel all work attentively to ready themselves for their chemistry lab. The students completed a multitude of labs for the duration of their chemistry course.

Juniors Jamie Brinksneider and Elizabeth Kohnert are using their pipets to drop chemicals into the microplate. Consistency was key for this lab.

Cody Nugent and Taylor Hale continue to perfect their shapes in geometry class. Cody and Taylor are juniors at TCHS.

Junior Trent Wheatley sets up the Bunsen burner to heat the crucible. Trent participated as a chemistry student.

What interests you?...

"In chemistry, I would have to say labs are probably my favorite because most of the time they are fun, pretty short, and not too hard."

Ashley Waninger

"I believe taking Spanish for three years will better help me in the future. Hearing Daniella speak her native language makes me feel I have a long way to go."

Morgan Dauby

Major Aishe, junior, laughs as he prepares for a project. He waited patiently for his turn.

Tara Cecil works diligently on her geometric shape. Tara was in Mr. Lyons' geometry.

French students Lauren Goffinet and Kelly Jo Hess rehearse for the puppet show. They presented their skit to the class.

Commit to Be Fit

Mr. Lacy lectures in many different ways, and being comical is one of them. He has taught history classes for 21 years.

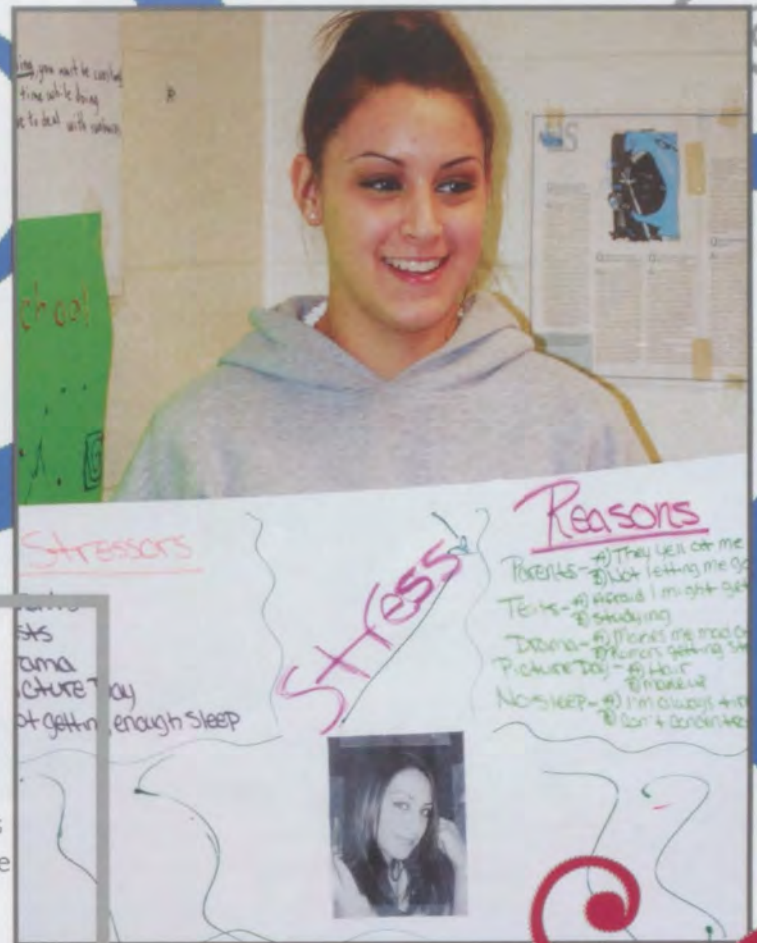

Sophomores Courtney Backer and Sydney Grass and junior Kyle Osborne work on a health project. They took advantage of the comfortable atmosphere to come up with good ideas for their project.

Senior Marcus Freeman shows his English 12 class his presentation over poetry. He put a lot of work into this project.

Seniors Nathan Bolin, Thomas Hilt, and Eric Sabelhaus watch a classmate present a slideshow.

Jaylen Avallone, freshman, presents her stress poster to her health class. She said, "The class was very educational."

What interests you?...

"My favorite part about the projects and slideshows was being able to be creative and being able to explore more into my ideas and abilities."

Nathan Bolin

"What I like about U.S. History the most is that Mr. Lacy is a good teacher, and his jokes make the class a lot funnier."

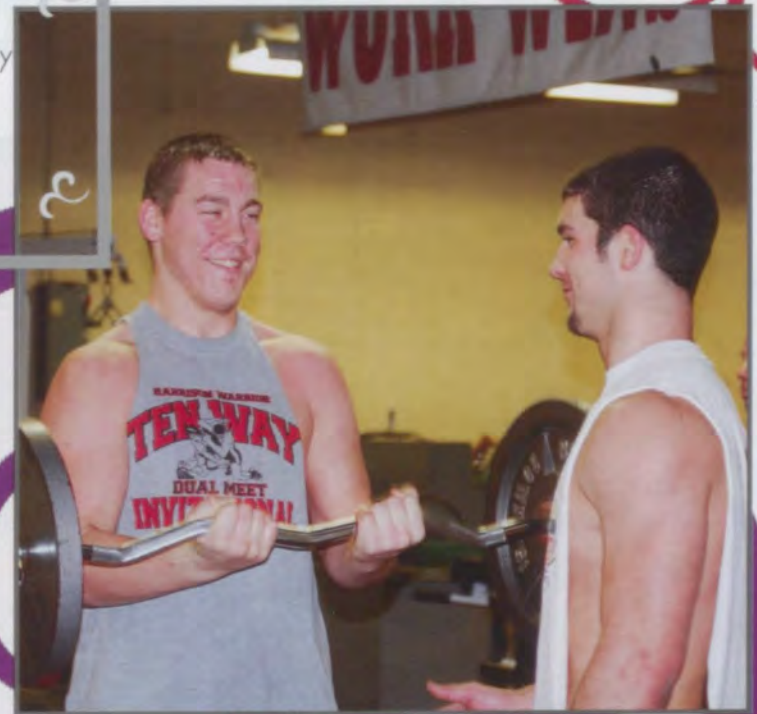

Jennifer Tate

Jonathon James and Matt James, freshmen, stretch in their first period P.E. class.

Emily Dauby, senior, presents a speech. The speech class was taught by Mr. Hall.

Junior Dylan Froehlich does curls as sophomore Trent Gunn spots him. They were in the advanced P.E. class.

The Many Talents of Me

Junior Austin Clayton works on the wheel in ceramics. Austin entered several projects into the art show.

Sophomores Kayla Lasher and Courtney Young decorate their Valentine's Day cake. They were both pleased with how theirs came out.

Senior Rachel Lasher puts finishing touches on her art project. Rachel said, "I like being able to make things that I can use."

What interests you?...

"What I like about art class is the freedom we get to work our projects on our own schedule."

Devon Lott

"I like talking to my friends, memorizing and learning new music in chorus class."

Alexa Martin

Junior Gus Lain pries on a nail during construction class. They were learning how to build a house.

Senior Steven Irwin hammers a nail into a board during construction class. He was excited about putting on the roof.

Sophomores Kareasa Schaad and Brooke Smith study their music. Chorus performs two concerts each year.

You Find It, We'll Fix It

Junior Alex Scheer attaches electrical wires into a socket. This was Alex's first year in the BulidingTrades class.

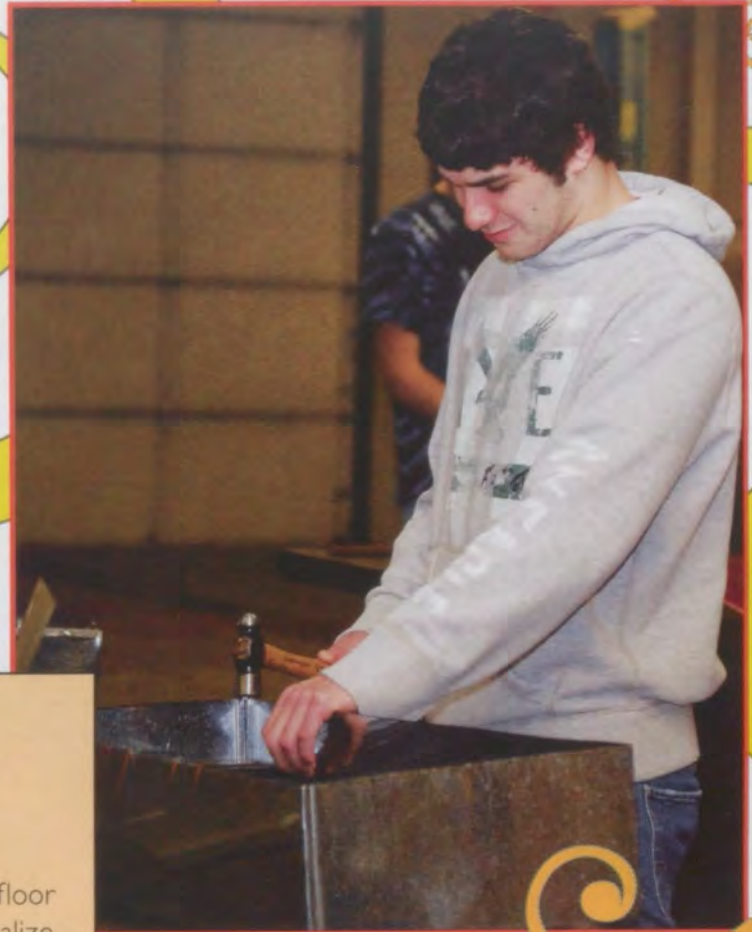

Senior Derrick Woodfield cautiously reverses the car that the Auto Mechanics class is currently working on. When asked why he took Auto Mechanics, he answered that working on cars had been a huge part of his life since he was young.

Junior Jeff Harper concentrates on changing a van's tire. Jeff is a first-year Auto Mechanics student. What Jeff likes best about Auto Mechanics is changing the oil and changing the brakes on vehicles.

Junior Chelsea Hay silently listens to junior Emily Schilling's blood pressure. The HOSA students are training to become CNA's and will work at the local hospital second semester.

Senior Andy Carter is hammering duct work in Heating and Air class. Andy is the only Tell City student in his class.

What interests you?...

"My favorite place to be in the hospital is on the second floor because I enjoy helping people. HOSA had helped me realize that I would like to become a registered nurse."

Tia Sanders

My favorite aspect of Building Trades is making fun of Mr. Rice. My least favorite thing to do is hang drywall; it is really messy and not very fun.

Victor Schutzius

Junior Brian Richardt lifts the car to a comfortable working level. This was Brian's first year in Auto Mechanics.

Senior Julie Davis and junior Morgan Rainey check the dummy's life signs. Both were first year HOSA students.

Junior Matt Kaufman is diligently working on the car in auto mechanics. Matt said that his favorite thing to do in Auto Mechanics was to work in the shop rather than sit in class.

People

ell City High School is an AA school consisting of about 500 students including 115 seniors, 135 juniors, 131 sophomores, and 120 freshmen. Our school may be small, but our voices can be heard. We show support for all sports, no matter the size.

School spirit can be found around just about every corner. The students always participate during school dress up days and during games. School spirit ranges from just supporting our school by wearing a Tell City shirt to painting Tell City on our skin. We are a spirited group of students who just don't say we have spirit but show up in numbers and voices to support our school.

As students we also try to give back to the community. We take part in volunteering in such classes that benefit the community. HOSA and building trades are just some examples. Our students also partake in such events like the March of Dimes. The school also has Key Club that cleans up Mozart Street and donates their time in helping others and their community.

The students within Tell City High School are full of spunk and are ready for any circumstances that may cross their path. The student body works hard and have made many academic achievements.

*As we come together old and new,
We have come to love them as animals in the zoo.*

Freshmen Darian Allen and Devin McDaniel sprint the last 100 meters to the finish line. The meet was postponed due to rain.

Junior Trish Solbrig forehands the tennis ball to the opposing player. Solbrig is seeded number one doubles with partner Kari Gladish.

Juniors Patrick Hagedorn and Nick Bower patiently await the varsity basketball team's arrival from the locker room. Nick was a president of the Pep Club.

Field of Sports

The sports season here at Tell City High School began as they always do. Our teams may be viewed as mediocre, but our spirit is fantastic. We may not win every game, but we have definitely come to learn that victory is not everything. I'm sure that everyone would agree when we say that winning is a great feeling. Aside from winning, another spectacular feeling is hearing the Marksmen cheer you on. The Marksmen fans never let the scoreboard bring down their spirits. Even if there is no possible way of winning, the Marksmen still stand to cheer on the players until the very end. It is very rare to find students with spirit as great as ours. One of the most important aspects of having school spirit is to never let opponents bring you down.

Above left: Junior Andrew Williams is beating his drum while performing for the student body.

About right: The freshmen are cheering on the varsity team.

The co-ed swim team get their adrenaline pumping before the meet. As a tradition, the Marksmen get revved up prior to the first race by doing a cheer in the water.

Senior Lacey McManaway is bracing herself to fly sky high. The cheerleaders perform as the players are being named.

Junior Elizabeth Kohnert serves up an ace against the Commodores. The Lady Marksmen stomped Perry Central.

Juniors Elizabeth Kohnert and Brittney Harth are up against the net attempting to block a spike.

Senior Julie Davis concentrates on the ball as she gets ready to set it for her teammate to spike. Julie played volleyball all four years of high school.

Set, Set, Over The Net

"Bump, set, and spike" is every volleyball player's motto. This season began as every other here at Tell City High School. The Lady Marksmen consisted of only five seniors this season: Paige Gelarden, Catelyn Zuelly, Katie Kalin, Julie Davis, and Lauren Goffinet. Coach Dalonda Hayes said that she had a positive connection with the team this year. She believes that their close relationships were possible because she was once in their position since she played volleyball through college and could relate with the team's experiences. This group of seniors will be Coach Hayes' first team that she has coached throughout their volleyball careers. Hayes began coaching the current team of seniors when they began playing in eighth grade. The Lady Marksmen finished out their season with a 14-13 record.

Above Right: Senior Katie Kalin and junior Leslie Poole eagerly chase after the ball. The Marksmen went on to claim victory.

Senior Catelyn Zuelly awaits the drop of the ball. She played for the Marksmen all four years of high school.

Senior Katie Kalin bumps a ball to the setter during the South Spencer game. This was Kalin's last regular season high school game.

Junior Wes Hinton powers the ball into the air but is stopped by. Hinton has been a positive influence on the Marksmen football team for three years.

Sophomore Nick Kleaving takes a few steps back and prepares to launch the ball into the air. Kleaving was the Marksmen's leading quarterback this year.

Senior Andy Brunner lines up with his team to go in for a tackle. Brunner played for the Marksmen team for four years and was a helpful competitor.

Tackle, Tackle, Touchdown

The Marksmen had a long season full of challenges. They may not have been the best team, but they went out every game and strived to better themselves. Even though the team often faced challenges, they still managed to get out there and score. The Marksmen never ended up winning a game, but they still went out there and made so many TCHS students proud of our Marksmen football team. And we can only plan on a better season in the coming years for our football players.

When freshman Trent Nelson was asked how he feels about football, he replied, "To me, football is life!" Several of the other players would definitely agree. When it comes to the Marksmen football team Coach Robinson said, "If you're ready to work, welcome aboard!"

Above Center: The Marksmen football team is huddled together on the field getting ready for the second game of the season.

Sophomore Colton Thomas struggles to flee from the other team while grasping the ball. Despite his broken collarbone, he still managed to give it his all and have a successful year.

Junior Chris Martin leaps into the air to tackle his opponent and keep him out of reach of the ball. Chris Martin was a proud member of the Marksmen football team.

A Royal March Of Whos

At six o'clock on September 26, 2008, everyone gathered at Legion Field for the annual football homecoming. Everyone watched as Andy Carter and Jill Cassidy stood under the arch being crowned King and Queen. When asked what she thought about winning Homecoming Queen, Jill replied, "I was shocked but really excited. I really didn't think I was going to get it." Homecoming was very successful this year thanks to the Student Council.

TCHS also put on a homecoming dance after the football game against Southridge. This dance was a huge success. Many of the students attended the dance and had a terrific time.

Freshmen: Brad Leibering and Klyne Waninger. Seniors: Jake Roland, Megan Neyenhaus, Andy Carter, Kyla Zellers, Michael Saalman, Lindsey Noble, Jill Cassidy, and Derrick Woodfield. Juniors: Mariah Alvey and Jerry Ammon. Sophomores: Kareasa Schaad and Nick Kleaving. Crown Bearers: Valerie Kehl and Hunter Beckort.

Senior candidates Michael Saalman and Lindsey Noble jostled their way to the end of the court as they race at the pep session. This was their second time being chosen for homecoming.

Juniors Jerry Ammon and Mariah Alvey walk arm in arm across the field. Both were first-year attendants for the class of 2010.

King Andy Carter and Queen Jill Cassidy smile for the camera after being crowned for the 2008 football homecoming. After the ceremony, Jill was congratulated by friends and family while Andy prepared for the game.

Sophomore attendants Nick Kleaving and Kareasa Schaad pause below the arch as they are introduced to the crowd.

Representing the freshman class are Brad Leibering and Klyne Waninger. Klyne said she was nervous about the ceremony.

Junior Nick Hawkins performs in the Schweizer Fest Parade. Hawkins was a returning member of the drum section.

Senior Hannah Braunecker conducts the band during a performance. This was Braunecker's second year as drum major.

Senior Trevor Nelson diligently concentrates during band practice. This was Nelson's first and last year in marching band.

Mr. Reasoner Hears a Who

Instead of wasting away those lazy summer days, the TCHS band members were up and ready to play their music. When it was time for the season to start, the band's first stop was F. J. Reitz. This was the band's first year to perform at F. J. Reitz, and they brought home third place. Following their first show, they traveled to Paoli and Floyd Central and brought back two second places and a best drum major award. After invitationals, they moved up to district and won the gold division. They also won gold divisions when it came to the ISSMA Regionals. The theme for the band this year was "Awaken, Explore, Discover."

Senior Lacey Padgett folds her flag after a competition. This is Padgett's fourth year in guard.

The Marching Marksmen perform their show during halftime at a home football game. They competed each Saturday for two months.

Senior Tiffany Davis and sophomore Andyn Rowe round the corner. They were the leaders of the pack.

Freshman Sarah Goffinet paces herself as she nears the finish line. Goffinet later went on to finish the race in first place.

Junior Brittany Waninger flies down a hill. A PC opponent followed closely behind Waninger.

One Step, Two Step, Run, Run, Run

Although the girls' cross country team was small, they finished with big results. The girls began their training in the early summer hoping it would lead them to a very successful season. The overall record was 83-43. They qualified as a team for regional but fell one place short of qualifying for semi-state. Senior Tiffany Davis and freshman Sarah Goffinet moved on to semi-state. Sarah also won the PAC meet and the sectional meet, and she qualified for the state meet. Coach Chinn also wanted to recognize two other girls for their amazing improvements since the previous season. Chinn said that Brittany Waninger and Andyn Rowe had improved the most. Also, Davis, who was the only senior, managed to be a great role model and leader for the team.

Exhausted, junior Brittany Waninger runs to reach her goal. Waninger is a third year member of the girls' cross country team.

Although sophomore Erika Hauenstein is bushed, she knows the finish line is near. Hauenstein learned to cope with sports while doing well in academics.

Senior Alex Fenn must step up the pace to get a higher place. This is Fenn's fourth year on the cross country team.

Senior Dylan Kleemann runs a competitive race even against his fellow teammate freshman Darian Allen. Finishing out of breath, they both ran a good race.

Tell City is neck and neck with their opponents. With a Marksman in the lead, Coach Hollinden had high hopes for gaining a victory at this invitational.

Can't Catch Me, I'm a Marksman

Tell City High School's boys' cross country team had a very successful season. They may have fallen short of their major goal, reaching the semi-state, but they still managed to stay competitive in every meet despite having a very inexperienced squad.

This year's boys' cross country team was thought to have put forth the greatest amount of effort than ever before. They ran in temperatures exceeding 100 degrees for multiple days and pushed themselves to the limit at least three times a week. "This group of seniors did a great job doing exactly as told and never complaining about the difficulty of a workout," said Coach Hollinden, complimenting their positive attitudes. Overall, the boys' cross country team had a very memorable season.

Senior Jeremy Kellems concentrates while trying to achieve his best time.

Senior Justin Kleemann sprints for the finish line. Because this was his last year, he hoped for the team's best year.

Senior Amber Thomas is putting out of the sand. Amber was the only girls golf player to go to regional this year.

Senior Megan Neyenhaus gets in the zone for her putt. Megan has played golf three years of her high school career.

Readying her club is senior Stephanie Newton as senior Lindsey Noble watches. Newton and Noble worked as a team to defeat their opponent.

Bye, Bye, Birdie

Golf for the girls this season went well. Teamwork was their strength and power that fueled the team. When asked her goals for this season, senior Britney Hendershot said, "My goal for this year was to improve." Many members of the team met their goals this year, including senior Amber Thomas, who said, "My goal was to advance to the regional, and I did!" Coach Meek's opinion on the challenges the team had to overcome included "understanding how physical the game is and that it takes work and commitment." Overall, the team had a good season in addition to excellent communication among teammates.

In her back swing is senior Stephanie Newton. This is her first year on the golf team.

Senior Lindsey Noble is down low lining up her next shot. She began playing for girls' golf her senior year.

Senior Andy Chinn centers on the ball in an attempt to get ahead in his match. Chinn played number one singles.

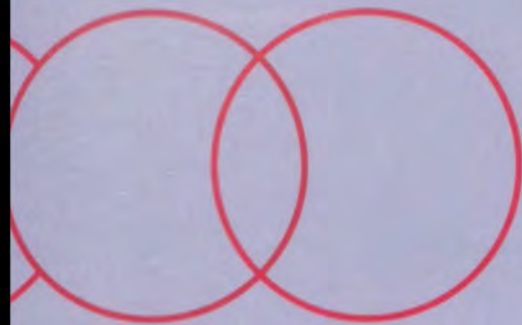

Jake Roland, senior, fiercely serves to his Southridge opposing player. This is Roland's fourth year of playing tennis for the Marksmen.

Junior Trent Wheatley forehands the ball across the net for a good return. This was Wheatley's first year of tennis and he played number two doubles.

Toss, Hit, and Over

Tennis season for the Marksmen boys started with a fresh new coach that brought on new positive attitudes. For Mr. Weyer's first year as the boys' tennis coach, he prepared by continuously practicing and playing in the Schweizer Fest Tennis Tournament. When asked for advice for new players, he said, "You just have to play. Rarely can you pick up a racquet and be a good player. It takes many hours of hitting balls to be good." He also said that being a new coach is a lot of fun. About the season he said, "It's gone well. We've competed against a strong PAC field and have not been shut out very often." The boys ended their season with a 4-9 finish.

Patrick Hagedorn, junior, concentrates on getting a good return for the point. Hagedorn played number two doubles for varsity.

Freshman Joey Gladish prepares to serve up to his opponent. Joey played on JV during his first year playing for the Marksmen.

Junior A.J. Flynn races to get the ball away from a Heritage Hills opponent. Flynn played midfield for the team.

Alex Scheer maneuvers his way across the field towards the goal. He played one of the forward positions on the team.

Freshman Klyne Waninger dribbles the ball down the field, edging closer to the goal.

Green Fields and Goals

A new addition this year in fall sports was soccer. A lot of people came out to play for the co-ed team. The roster consisted of nine boys and five girls. The majority of the team members had played in soccer clubs before this year.

Fred Hillenbrand was the coach this year. He played high school soccer for Evansville Memorial. Hillenbrand coached Evansville teams for two years and has coached junior high and recreational teams for seven years in Tell City.

The Marksmen had a satisfactory season this year. They won two, tied three, and lost three games. When senior Jason Hackbarth was asked what was expected of the season, he responded, "I expect our season to be a learning experience. I think it will be both fun and tough."

Felicia Kellems collides with her opponent in attempt to get the ball. Kellems was a junior during the team's debut season.

Kyla Zellers focuses on advancing the ball. She was one of three seniors on the team this year.

Senior Lauren Goffinet informs other members to get in position. Goffinet has been a starting guard for four years.

Freshman Rachel Woznicki throws her hands up in order to block the shot. Woznicki was a first-timer to the Lady Marksmen team.

Concentrating on her foul shot is junior Mariah Alvey. This was Alvey's third year playing for the high school.

We Only Get Net

Starting the year off with a win was our own Lady Marksmen varsity team. The girls defeated Cannelton with an even twenty-point lead. Senior Lauren Goffinet broke the single game scoring record with forty-three points. Goffinet also broke a personal record by making her one thousand one hundred sixteenth shot. The coaches and girls all believed they worked well together, but they also agreed there was room for improvement. The Lady Marksmen have seen better seasons in the past, though they continued to work hard to strive for wins. Sophomore Courtney Young said the fans "help push me to do better than my best."

About Right: Blocking number 10 from taking the ball is junior Felicia Kellems.

Senior Lacey Padgett receives goodies from her fellow teammate. Padgett finished the season early due to injury.

Ready to stop the other team are sophomore Jeylyn Staggs and junior Ashley Fella. Staggs played forward while Fella played center.

Senior three-point champion Andy Chinn is faking out the opponent. The Marksmen won the game against North Posey.

Senior Jesse Stow is jumping for the rebound during the North Posey game. Jesse is a forward for the Marksmen and has played basketball all four years.

Seniors Jamal Noland and Andy Brunner are playing their best defensive game. This was their last home game of their high school basketball career.

Everytime We Score You Hear a Roar

This season our boys' basketball team tried their best. They had an up and down season. They always played their hearts out and made their fans proud. Most of them agreed that one of their proudest moments was beating Perry Central on their court. They were very excited to beat our school's rival. They were also very happy when senior Andy Chinn set the record for the most three-pointers in a career at Tell City High School.

We asked Senior Jordan Rhodes how he felt about how his team worked this season. He replied by saying, "I thought we worked together well, and we picked each other up when we struggled." The boys had a good season. Even though their record was not that great they all worked hard and made their fans proud.

Senior Jordan Rhodes directs his team to do a specific play. Rhodes is a starting guard for the Marksmen and has played basketball for four years.

Senior Ben Stiles is waiting for the opponent to take a shot so he can retrieve the rebound. Stiles is a center for the Marksmen and has played basketball for four years.

I Am Going To Get Crowned Today!

Emily Dauby smiles as Jamal receives his crown. Emily was honored to represent the senior class.

"I am happy for Lauren and Jamal and glad they won," said senior Andy Brunner.

Uriah Scott said, "This will be something I will always remember." Uriah was surprised that he was on the ballot.

Seniors Jamal Noland and Lauren Goffinet are crowned King and Queen. They both loved playing basketball at TCHS.

Tell City Homecoming candidates smile for the group shot. The event took place on February 21, 2009.

Juniors Patrick Hagedorn and Caitlin Steen walk arm in arm. "It was a fun experience I'll never forget," said Caitlin.

Senior candidates Dylan Kleemann and Tory Coyle smile under the archway. They then proceeded to their spot to await the results.

Greg Hollinden and Josalyn Ress smile for the crowd. They served as sophomore representatives.

Blake Alvey and Rachel Woznicki look toward their spot in the homecoming line up. They smiled as parents took pictures.

Tiffany Davis, senior, is competing at the sectional in Jasper. Davis has been a member of the swim team for 3 years.

Preparing for her dive is freshman Hana Reed. She was careful about her every move to ensure a good dive.

Senior Jessica Wagner freestyles her way through the lane. Wagner worked her way through the first home meet.

One Fish, Two Fish, Red Fish White Fish

This year's girls' swim team had a lot to be proud of. The season was successful and a good way for the girls to make new friends. The two seniors, Tiffany Davis and Jessica Wagner, showed great leadership and helped encourage the underclassmen. When asked how the team worked together, Jessica Wagner replied, "I think that the team came together very well this year. I don't think that it was very hard to come together, though. We have three sets of sisters on the team." Having three sets of sisters created a more family-like atmosphere for the girls. The girls ended their season with pride by placing third at sectional and also breaking a school record of 1:53:49 in the 500 free medley relay.

Freshman Klyne Waninger powers along the lane as she prepares for the meet. Waninger participated in the first event which was the relay.

Amanda Wagner, freshman, backstrokes swiftly in the water. Wagner went head-to-head with a Boonville opponent to win.

Greg Clayton, sophomore, plows through the water at sectionals. Clayton has swum since junior high.

Sophomore Logan Bolin dismounts into a dive. Bolin had to use great concentration to perfect his dive.

Austin Clayton, junior, propels briskly along as he takes a quick breath. Clayton began swimming his sophomore year in high school.

I Wish I Had Geese Feet

The boys' swim team had a tough season this year, but they pulled through. The overall record for the boys this year was fairly successful. When asked about teamwork this season, senior Trevor Nelson said, "The boys' team has always worked great together since my freshman year. We are always with each other, whether it's practice or hanging out on the weekends. We are like one big group of friends." Nelson also stated that balancing swim and school was a challenge, but with the support of friends and family, the boys' swim team was motivated to work hard. All of the early morning and late practices have helped to build the team into a strong and triumphant unit.

Justin T. Peter, sophomore, competes in the 100-meter butterfly race. Peter was also a member of the swim team his freshman year.

Sophomore Jarrod Clayton maneuvers through the water during his race. Clayton has been a member of the team for two years.

Andy Kast, senior, shoves hard on his opponent during a match. This was Kast's first year making it to state.

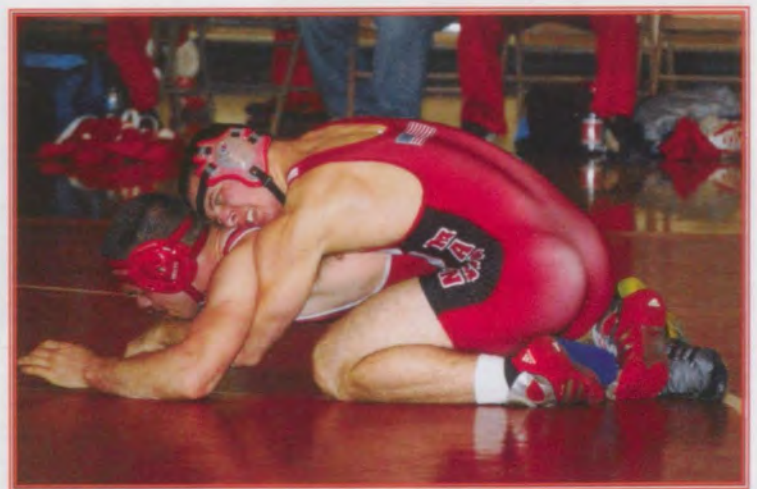

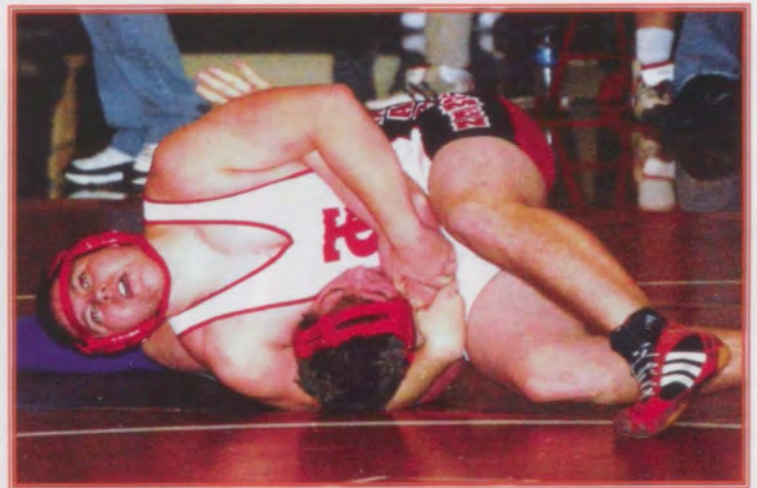

Senior Eric Sabelhaus hugs his mom during senior night. Sabelhaus' season was cut short due to injury.

Attempting to force his opponent to the mat is junior Dylan Froehlich.

Pat The Mat

In the 2008-2009 season, the wrestling team's record was 18-10. The team's semi-state qualifiers were Andy Kast, Dylan Froehlich, and A.J. Flynn. Kast and Froehlich both lost in the first round at semi-state but had a very successful season. Flynn could not compete due to a knee injury. The other teammates made it as far as regional and placed third at regional. Their coach, Joe Litherland, was very proud of them and the way they worked and wrestled together. We are saying goodbye to four seniors this year. They are Andy Kast, Justin Kleemann, John Faulkenburg, and Eric Sabelhaus. Coach Litherland said, "I think we had a great season and I am very proud of them."

Above Center: Practicing a takedown is senior Justin Kleemann. Kleemann enjoyed helping his teammates with their skills.

Striving for a pin is sophomore Jordan Keown. Keown has been wrestling for two years now for the Marksmen.

Above Left: Putting his opponent to the ground is junior AJ Flynn. Flynn qualified for state but could not attend due to injury.

Senior Kari Gladish taps racquets with junior Trish Solbrig. This was their first year being double partners.

Preparing to serve the ball is sophomore Alexis Braun. Braun was one of the six returning members.

The team gathers for a pregame pep-talk. They pow-owed before and after every match.

Smack It With Our Racquets

Even though the Lady Marksmen tennis team shrunk by half this year, they still managed to achieve a great season. The team prepared this year by conditioning inside for two and a half weeks by running around the building, doing stairs, and ladder drills. Coach Weyer had this to say about the team's effort, "They each worked hard to develop their own game." Leadership was a characteristic that all of the upperclassmen possessed this season. They all took part in leadership towards the underclassmen in their own unique way. The team enjoyed each other's company this year. One of Coach Weyer's goals for the team was to improve their skills as players.

Sophomore Brooke Birchler eyes the ball while preparing to serve. Birchler served as a JV/V member for the tennis team.

Senior Jenelle Clausen is returning the ball with a backhand stroke. Clausen has been on the varsity team for three years.

Senior Corey Young follows through his swing while watching the ball. Young has played golf for four years.

Senior Jake Roland prepares for a putt. The Marksmen were challenged by Perry Central and Jasper in this match.

Victor Schutzius, senior, squats to line up the shot. Schutzius was the number two golfer for the Marksmen golf team.

Hear Me Fore!

This year's golf team was expected to improve from last year. The team had four players returning for the Marksmen. The top three returning golfers were Corey Young, Victor Schutzius, and Logan Bolin respectively. They prepared for their golf matches by practicing their swing and making sure they had the right club that was needed.

Senior Victor Schutzius said, "Our team has done pretty well this year, and this has been my best year playing golf." TCHS was really proud of the Marksmen golf team this year. "It's a challenging sport that I hope to follow into college. The support of the team is definitely a reason to come back and play next year," commented sophomore Logan Bolin.

Senior Jake Roland taps the ball to make sure it hits the hole just right. Roland has enjoyed playing golf every season.

Watching the ball fly into the green is junior Alex Cole. Cole was very pleased with his score during this match.

Junior Elizabeth Kohnert hurdles over the high jump pole. High jump was Kohnert's most successful event.

Freshman Katlyn Braunecker strives to get ahead in the 100-meter dash. This is Braunecker's first year for running for the Marksmen.

Freshman Sarah Goffinet and Senior Tiffany Davis run the 1600-meter. They both continued to improve throughout the season.

If I Ran The Track...

Distance running has been one of the main strengths for the Lady Marksmen this year. The team has two seniors, Tiffany Davis and Jessica Wagner. Coach Katie Chinn says, "I honestly think we could finish in the top three in the PAC." The team is more motivated by the encouragement of the fans. On May 26, 2009, Katlyn Braunecker, Sarah Goffinet, Andyn Rowe, Courtney Young, Elizabeth Kohnert, and Tiffany Davis all competed in their respective categories at regionals. Davis placed third in the mile at regionals to move on to state competition on June 6, 2009.

Freshman Kayla Galloway gains momentum for her shot put throw. Galloway was one of the few girls that competed in shot put.

Senior Jessica Wagner soars through the air as she tries to get greater distance for the long jump. This was Wagner's first year in track.

Sophomores Tyler Dauby and David McDaniel leap over the hurdles in an attempt to defeat their opponents.

Senior Jason Hackbarth lunges as far as possible into the sand pit. Hackbarth competed against the Commodores in this event.

Hurdle the Turtle

This year our boys' track team consisted of thirty-three boys with nine seniors. The seniors were Nathan Bolin, Alex Fenn, Neal Goffinet, Jason Hackbarth, Jeremy Kellems, Dylan Kleemann, Justin Kleemann, Jamal Noland, and Michael Saalman. Sophomores made up the majority of the team but were a strong group. They started off their season with two successful wins against Perry Central and Southridge. They expect to have a good shot at PAC this year, even with Forest Park and Heritage Hills being top competitors. Coach Hollinden had confidence in his team and said, "If everything goes right, we could win PAC." Coach Hollinden's confidence paid off because the team went on to win PAC and placed sixth in sectional.

Senior Nathan Bolin sprints down the lane against his Southridge opponent. Bolin competed in the 100-meter dash.

Readying himself for the shot put is sophomore Jordan Hammack. This was Hammack's second year in shot put for the track team.

Winding up her pitch is sophomore Jo-salyn Ress. Ress was the Marksmen's number one pitcher this year.

Keeping her eye on the ball is sophomore Lindsey Wade. Wade prepared to take her swing as the ball traveled across the plate.

Ready to hit the ball out of the park is sophomore Cortni Strobel. Strobel hit a double to send a teammate across the plate during this home game.

Lady Marksmen: Sectional Champs

The Tell City girls' softball team's main strengths this season were hitting, pitching, and bunting. Most of the girls prepared for the season by conditioning, weight training, and practicing. When asked what her expectations for the season were, sophomore Sydney Grass responded, "I expect good attitudes from everyone, winning some games, and having tons of fun." As for where the Marksmen will fit in the conference, Coach Beard believes they could be in the top half of it. This season, the varsity team had a record-breaking 2-1 win over Pike Central. This win brought their record to 13-8, the most wins since the program began in 1996. The team beat North Posey for the sectional win and will play Clarksville in the regional. This is the first sectional title for the Lady Marksmen.

Stretching to make the out is senior Amber Thomas. Thomas has played first base all four years for the Marksmen.

Warming up before the game is freshman Kenzie Alvarez. Alvarez was catcher for the JV team during the Northeast Dubois game.

Sophomore Trent Benningfield prepares to throw a perfect strike. Benningfield was a pitcher for the varsity team.

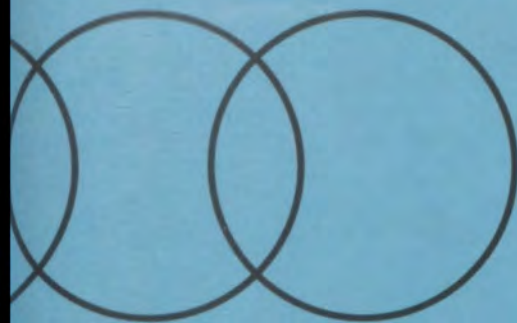

Left fielder Travis Jones throws the ball to the infield. Jones said that he wants to play baseball in college and possibly play in the majors.

Varsity player Andy Chinn follows through with his swing after making contact with the ball. Chinn, number fourteen, also played shortstop for the Marksmen.

Batter, Batter, What's the Matter?

This season the Marksmen welcomed a new head coach, Mark Wahl. He believed that the team's hitting and defense would be strong. Wahl said, "The team has three strong batters in the middle of the line up: Mike Maddie, Trent Gunn, and Kyle Osborne." He followed that by stating the team has made no defensive errors so far and that he is also a big believer in small ball because batters one through nine must be able to bunt. Wahl quoted, "They run like their coach, but we've got two or three that can steal a bag." The success of the Marksmen simply boiled down to the pitching. There was very little experience returning to the team but Coach Wahl was pleased with surprises in practice. Wahl said, "I do not see why my team cannot compete for the conference title; we just have kids that do not like to get beat."

Above Right: Firing one straight down the middle is senior Jordan Rhodes. Rhodes entered the game as a relief pitcher and led the Marksmen to victory against the Tecumseh Braves.

Aiming for a double play is sophomore Trent Gunn. Gunn looked the Evansville North player back to second before throwing the ball to first base for the final out to end the second inning.

Pitcher Trent Benningfield launches the baseball to first basemen Ben Stiles. This year was Benningfield's first year pitching varsity for the Marksmen while Stiles has played first base for all four years.

Baseball Front Row: Nick Kleaving, Trent Benningfield, Kyle Osborne, Jordan Rhodes, Andy Chinn, Trent Gunn, Michael Maddie, Travis Jones. Student Life

n the school year of 2008-2009, Tell City High School had many wonderful memories. We do focus on academics, but we also like to have a lot of fun while doing it. We have a lot of school spirit by having pep sessions, hall decorations, tailgating, and yard decorations. We also have spirit jug competitions where the classes compete to have the most students at a game or competition. It's a big battle to see who can win the spirit jug at the end of the year.

The Fall Extravaganza is for all our fall sports. Each sport makes a float and competes to win the best float while having a parade along with it. After the parade, everyone meets at the football field to talk about how their seasons went.

Towards the end of the year, our school has a Spring Fling. At the Spring Fling, we are able to swim, play volleyball, help ourselves to refreshments, and much more. It's a time where the school comes together to have a great time!

*The wonderful memories come and go,
But the spirit will always show.*

Seniors watch a football game as they spell out Marksmen.

Dancing in a Winter Candy Land

Being surrounded with ice cream cones, lollipops, and candy canes created the perfect atmosphere for a great time at this year's winter dance. The majority of the students said that the gymnasium looked the best compared to any of the previous dances they had been to. The dance lasted from 8:30 to midnight and was filled with a lot of excitement and fun. The music that was played ranged from "Dancing Queen" to this year's popular song "Just Dance."

Freshmen Jill Lackore and Jamie Holman survey the dance floor as they enter the gym.

ell City students are breaking it down
n the dance floor and having the time f their lives.

Seniors Jill Cassidy and Paige Gelarden

dance at TCHS.

Freshman Courtney Blinzinger and sophomore Chelsea Malone show their tickets for entrance to the dance.

Seniors Travis Jones, A.J. Flynn, Jerry Ammon, and Matt Whalen greet each other with a handshake to start the evening.

Sophomore Courtney Young is jamming to the music. Courtney attended the dance last year too.

New York, Central Park!

At 8 o'clock the doors opened to the Schergens Center. Many juniors and seniors piled in for the start of a great night. As time went by, it was time to crown Prince and Princess as well as King and Queen. The titles of Prince and Princess were won by juniors Kyle Osborne and Mariah Alvey. Seniors Victor Schutzius and Lindsey Noble were crowned as King and Queen. At After Prom, held at the gym, everyone had an excellent time. Students played games to receive tickets to use towards prizes. Overall, it was a night that everyone will remember.

Juniors Kyle Osborne and Mariah Alvey were crowned Prince and Princess of the prom.

Prom King was won by senior Victor Schutzius and Prom Queen was Lindsey Noble. They were ecstatic about winning.

Junior Nick Bower and senior Jessica Wagner swing to the music. Nick and Jessica were looking great in pink.

Finding a seat away from all the excitement are junior Sam Snyder and sophomore Felicia Smith. They took a break to check his cell phone.

Junior Kevin Kanneberg grooves to the beat at prom.

Seniors Amity Henderson and Derrick Woodfield take a slow dance.

Smiling and having a good time are junior Jake Harper and date, freshman Amber Fentress, and junior Jerry Ammon. They spent the whole night out on the dance floor.

Hooray For Spring Fling Day

This year's Spring Fling was in some ways a deviation from the past. For the first time ever, Tell City High School held a Mr. Marksman contest. The participants had to perform a talent, answer questions, and model formalwear. The winners of the competition were seniors Corey Young and Michael Saalman. Games were held in the cafeteria and were supervised by Mrs. George and Mrs. Sanders. If you chose to, you could watch The Curious Case of Benjamin Button in a classroom. Also making its debut was a corn hole tourney. A basketball game was held in the girls' gym. What would Spring Fling be without its Slip and Slide? As always, the slippery slide was held in the back of the school near the band parking lot.

Junior Chelsea Hay paddles her boat to avoid sinking. Chelsea's boat was also constructed by juniors Alex Cole and Ashley Fella.

A huddle of boys prepares to take their turn to fly down the tarp. The slide was made possible by the Tell City Fire Department who provided the tarp, the water, and the baby oil.

Junior Patrick Hagedorn is having sugar poured on him by junior Hunter Dauby during his performance. The sugar made Patrick sticky sweet from his head to his feet.

A group of sophomores splash down the Slip and Slide together. The Slip and Slide was the best known activity of Spring Fling.

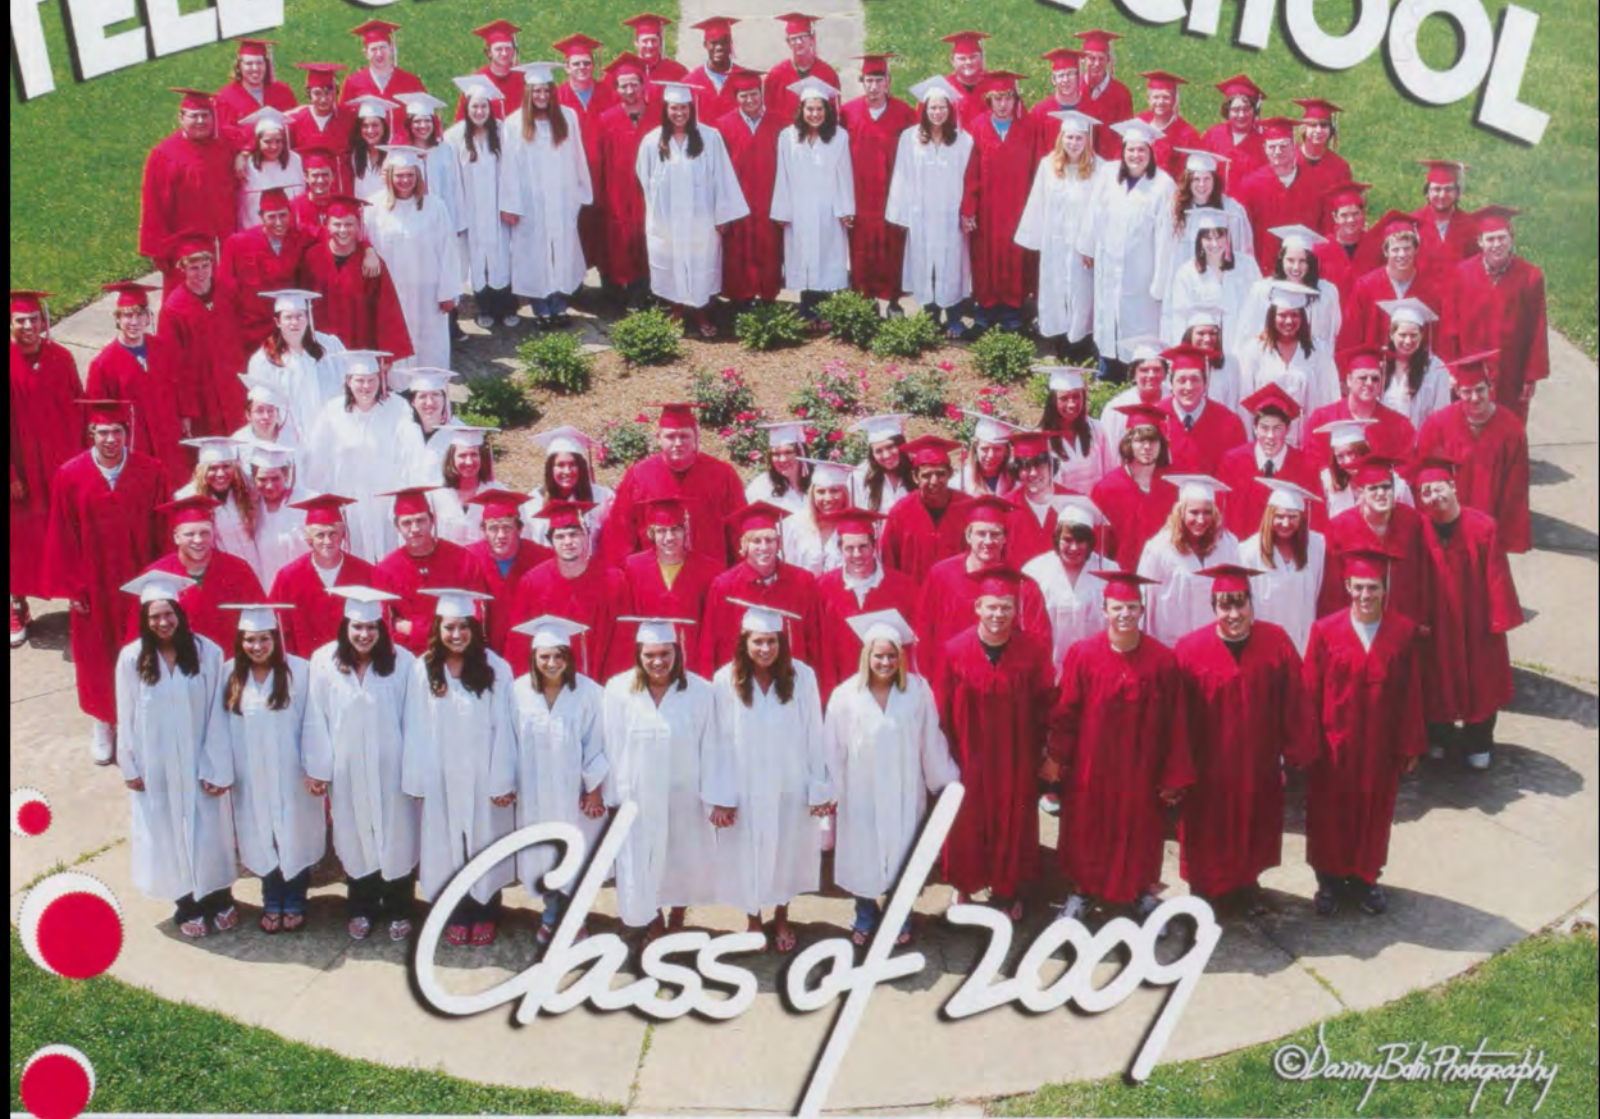

Senior Brianna Powers paddles furiously to the finish line. Brianna's boat won the first heat of the boat races.

Junior Ben Shelton competes in the first-ever Mr. Marksman competition. His talent was a dancing routine from Cats.

Another activity of this year's Spring Fling was corn hole. Seniors Victor Schutzius and Kaylyn Richard threw together.

TELL CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Hip Hip Hooray!

This year, graduation day started with practice at nine in the morning. For most of the graduates, this was the shock that they were really graduating. After their practice, the seniors were treated to a picnic to celebrate their success. The graduation ceremony took place May 22, 2009, at 7:00. The seniors started arriving around 6:00 and were given flowers to pin on their gowns. Then it was time to wait for the big moment. This class had 30% graduate with Academic Honors diplomas and over 20% graduate with 20 or more college credit hours. They also achieved the highest ISTEP scores to pass through Tell City. They will always be a class well remembered.

Leaving the stage after giving her speech is Jill Cassidy. Jill was selected as the 2009 Honor Graduate by the faculty.

Gathering together for one last photo is the graduating Class of 2009. This picture was taken the day seniors received their caps and gowns.

Receiving his diploma is Nathan Bolin. All the graduates received their diplomas from Mr. Eitenne.

Presenting his valedictory speech is Andy Kast. Andy was extremely proud to receive this honor.

Walking proudly to their seats are Jake Roland and Beyonka Galloway. All the graduates walked to their seats in pairs.

Turning their tassels is the class of 2009. They were led by co-salutatorian Amber Thomas in this important act.

Giving her salutatory speech is Jenelle Clausen. This class had two salutatorians.

TEAMS

Hooray for Retirement Day!

Mrs. Connie Palmer

The Yearbook Staff would like to give thanks and pay respect for all the hard work for the following retirees:

Mr. John Lenn has respectfully been a part of the Tell City-Troy Township School Corporation since 1980. Mr. Lenn has taught at the junior high and high school level. Most people know him as the special needs teacher, but few know he has taught such subjects as: math, science, english, and social studies. For the 29 years he's been here, his favorite thing about working here has been the staff and the students. When asked what he would miss the most, he replied, "I will miss working with the best staff in the state. I will stop in from time to time to see everyone."

Mr. Kenny Kleemann

Mr. Kenny Kleemann has been cleaning up our acts since January of 1993. He takes pride in his work and has done his best to improve our school. Mr. Kleemann was asked about the changes over the years with his work, and he replied that the custodians do more work with less people. He has been a part of the school custodial staff for 15 years and has many unforgettable memories. The Yearbook Staff asked Mr. Kleemann what his favorite part about working at Tell City High School has been and he said, "It would have to be a toss up between the great people and the paycheck."

Mr. John Lenn

Mrs. Connie Palmer has been dedicating her time to students and guiding them for 32 years. Her main priorities over the years have been standardized testing, state forms, college applications, scholarships, counseling students, and career planning. Her advice for new teachers would be to stay positive and remain flexible with the students. She has been a big influence for the school and the students within. Finally, when asked if she would suggest her job she said, "Definitely! It's the best job anyone could have."

If I ran to...

This year TCHS welcomed three foreign exchange students. We hope that their stay here was memorable.

All the way from Ronquiere, Belgium came Cynthia Deschamps. She enjoyed going bowling, out to eat, and of course going to Wal-Mart. Cali, Colombia is the hometown of Daniela Hernandez. Daniela wasn't accustomed to going to a school like TCHS because her school was a uniform, all-girls school. Both Daniela and Cynthia stayed at the same home while they were here. Experience was one of the main reasons that Jana Legtenborg decided to come to the United States. Jana made her journey all the way from a very old city in Germany called Velsen. Jana was amazed at all the differences between the United States and Germany schools.

All three of the girls are glad they made the decision to come to America. It was an experience of a lifetime.

Cynthia Deschamps poses for a picture outside in the courtyard. Cynthia had a lot of fun participating in the drama club.

Daniela Hernandez prepares to give her presentation in English class. Daniela enjoyed spending time with friends.

Jana Legtenborg is in guitar class waiting for instructions. One of her favorite American foods was Oreos.

Did I Ever Tell You How Lucky You Are?

We are very lucky to have made a color yearbook this year. In the history of Tell City's past yearbooks, none of them has ever been completely color before. It was a decision that was difficult to make, but one that we think that everyone should be pleased with. The yearbook class was made up of twelve students, two of which were returning members. Even though most of us were new to this type of class, we came in with energy and fresh ideas. We once again used Herff Jones as our publisher. This was our fourth year using InDesign CS2 and our second year using a Nikon D40, which has improved our overall picture quality. Our class was under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Aubrey, Mrs. Noble and Angela St. Clair as our yearbook representative.

In Memory of...

"I watched with pride as you tried and tried, drew from a strength that was deep inside. You gave it your all and you fought within, my heart felt your sadness when you didn't win."

Traci loved spending time with her children. She enjoyed going to their sporting events and supporting them. From left: Braeden, Spenser, Traci, and Stori.

Traci Deom Beard

Showing their support is the 2007-2008 volleyball team. Traci may have only coached for a short amount of time but will always be remembered.
